FOR NEXT GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA

ADJT. GEN. D. H. HASTINGS,

Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention

EDITORIAL BRIEFS

FAIR and pleasant weather will likely continue for the rest of the week and Christmas shoppers should make the best of it.

IRON is now almost as cheap in this country as it is in England, while the wages of iron-workers are much higher here than they are there. Never-theless, let all good Free-traders join freely in the parrot chorus: "The tariff is a tax."

THAT able Democratic organ the Providence Journal truthfully remarks that "there is no free-trade party in this country." And, our esteemed contemporary might have added; there hasn't been any since the killing frost of last November 6, 1888.

EDITOR GRADY'S speech at the Boston banquet contained rather more sugar and sunshine than any of his former efforts. As a producer of luxuriant rhetoric Colonel Grady is an artist who stands with few equals and no superiors in this or any other conntry.

EX-PRESIDENT CLEVELAND'S tribute to civil service reform in his speech at that Boston banquet is one of the handsomest compliments thus far paid to the Republican Administratian. It is fully deserved, also, and we are much obliged to Mr. Cleveland.

THE sentiment among manufacturers and brokers is that Bessemer pig will continue to advance in easy stages until it reaches $25, and may go to $27 while bar iron will likely soon advance $2 a hundred pounds. The iron business steadily develops into boom like proportions.

Now that the Brazilian Republic has been recognized by the Rothschilds it may be regarded as a reasonably solvent institution. Brazil will probably therefore proceed to pile up a national debt big enough to make it an object to financiers to guarantee her political integrity.

THIS talk about rushing a bill through Congress to reimburse the members who lost money by the rascality of Cashier Silcott is idle nonsense. It might as justly be proposed that the Government be made to idemnify a congressman who had lost money by receiving a counterfeit bank note.

THE inspection of the proposed route of the Erie Ship Canal will be commenced next week. The engineers upon the Board of Commissioners appointed by Governor Beaver say that none of the objections urged thus far against the project are serious and that the scheme is perfectly feasible.

THE Ohio ballot-box forgery got the attention of Congress recently in the shape of a bill introduced in the House for its investigation. It is to be hoped that the bill will pass Congress, the forgery sifted to the bottom and the blame fastened on the guilty parties, let them be who they may.

THE loss of $2900 which Hon. Roger Q. Mills has suffered through the rascality of Cashier Silcott will be sincerely regretted by every admirer of the cheerful Texas statesman. Just think of the mental wear and tear of the unuttered tariff-smashing thoughts which that $2900 represents!

THE trouble the fireman have had from telephone and electric light wires at several recent fires in various cities suggests that fire departments should have several men, say one in every other engine or hose company, skilled in handling electric wires. The time is coming, unless all wires are put under ground, when such an addition to a fire department will have to be made.

ONE section of the Missouri Ballot Reform law provides that no ticket can be placed in nomination by any political party which polled less than 3 per cent of the total vote at the last preceding election. We doubt the constitutionality of any such provision. Of what effect would it be, for instance, in the case of an entirely new political organization entering the field? A better plan is to let a limited number as fifty, nominate.

SHEPARD'S REMARKABLE ACT.

The outbreak of Colonel Elliot F. Shepard in the matter of the Johnstown relief fund, yesterday, is an example of the indiscretions which can be committed by a man who is controlled with a desire to pose as an example of piety and generosity, and has more money than brains to do it with.

Besides the exploitation of Dr. Beale's undoubted labors in behalf of the stricken people of Johnstown, and the remarkable achievments of the Mail and Express in sending relief there, the chief point of the letter is an indictment of the State Relief Commission for having as it is alleged in the letter $2,000,000 of relief funds lying idle in bank. There may have been grounds for criticising the delays in distributing the relief funds. But it is well to keep within speaking distance of the facts; and as the Relief Commission has neither two million, one million or half a million lying idle, the bolt of the good Colonel flies very wide of the mark. Besides which the fact that the New York Mail and Express, six months after the disaster, has an unappropriated balance lying idle from the money sent it by the charitable people of New York out of which to make personal gifts, may probably furnish some explanation of the consumed by the State Relief Commission in getting in the money from such sources, examining the cases of destitution, and distributing the funds.

This remarkable feature is more than rivaled by the assumption of authority to make a tolerably rich gift to a single person out of funds contributed to relieve suffering. We are ready to concede all the praise of Rev. Dr. Beale conveyed in the letter published; but were there no others in Johnstown who labored for the good of the sufferers? If we remember right, there were hundreds of Pittsburgers who gave up their time and encountered privation and sickness to further the work; yet to have given them a gift of a thousand dollars each out of the Pittsburg relief fund to recompense them for their efforts would have been rightly condemned as a betrayal of trust. The funds were contributed for the relief of the destitute sufferers, and it is difficult to find in Colonel Shepard's letter any evidence that the recipient of that $5,000 comes under that class.

Colonel Shepard is well able to give Dr. Beale $5,000 out of his own pocket, and, had he done so, no one could have done otherwise than applaud the act; but when he takes the money out of the relief fund, it only affords remarkable example of the very hazy ideas that rich men sometimes show in dealing with public trusts.

The Johnstown Moral.

The last Johnstown disaster, like the first, has one broad moral, and only one.

If a death-trap is set for men, some day it will be sprung, and men, women and children will be caught in it.

Few towns, like Johnstown, have a dam holding billions of gallons of water above the place. Thousands of towns, small and large, have churches, halls and theatres with double staircases leading into a narrow hallway. They are known as death-traps, and they are. They only need to be baited by a panic to catch life. In the larger cities law and inspection weed out most of these places. They flourish unchecked and unchallenged in the lesser towns, and these lines will be read by hundreds of persons in our cities and villages who know of such places.

But nothing is done to move or improve them. The death-trap stays. Some day it will be sprung, and over the corpses of the victims some good clergyman will speak of a "deplorable visitation of Providence."

RAILROADS, and perhaps the public, can gather from English experience in what the interference of the federal Government with railroad appliances must end. The English Government Commission has just ordered every road in the kingdom to put continuous brakes on all trains and adopt the block system. The New York Railroad Commission since the accident at Speaker's Basin, has asked the Central to adopt the latter but it has no power to order it, and the cost for a road of the length of the Central would be $500,000 a year in running expenses, besides the additional plant. A federal commission will be apt to think of cost in ordering such changes as little as the English.

THE OHIO FORGERIES.

The interest of the ballot-box forgeries is transferred from Ohio to the national arena. Not only the signature of the Democratic candidate for Governor, Mr, Campbell, but those of Senator Sherman, and Representatives McKinley, Butterworth and others were forged to the purported contract. As one of the parties, Major Butterworth yesterday offered a resolution for an investigation, and it was ordered.

There is a strange mystery surrounding this business. When the paper was first published as genuine only the signature of Mr. Campbell was given. The signature of Senator Sherman and of his colleague were suppressed. The fact that their names appeared on the same paper was withheld. How anybody who saw or knew that their names were attached could have supposed that any part of it was genuine is incomprehensible. So far as can be judged at this distance such an assumption involved an impeachment of their integrity, and no man could seriously have made such a reflection. There was something else in it.

It looks very much as if there were several political games in the business, and that the shot aimed at Campbell was expected to wing some Republican birds. It was apparently a move not merely in the contest between the two parties but in the rivalries of Republican factions. There has been too much of this cut-throat game among the Republican leaders who appear to have been more intent on striking down each other than on standing together against the common enemy. Their jealousies and antagonisms have ended in defeat, and perhaps in this disaster they will learn the lesson of common sense which they ought to have learned before.

INGALL'S PENSION BILL.

Senator Ingalls introduced a bill on Wednesday "to place on the pension rolls, at $8 per month, all soldiers of the late war over fifty years of age who served sixty days or more, who were disabled in line of duty and were honorably discharged." The bill also provides that in all cases where the period of the service exceeds 800 days, pension shall be at the rate of one cent for each day's service, and that there be no pensions of less than $8 per month.

As the time goes by, the drift of opinion grows stronger and stronger in favor of pensions for all men who wore the blue. When the ranks of the Union soldiers grow thinner, and the number of their dependants who now receive pensions become less, there is scarcely a doubt that a pension law will be passed which will put the name of every honorable discharged veteran upon the pay roll. Senator Ingall's bill is a very liberal one and will certainly receive the sanction, of soldiers.

Robert Browning Dead.

Robert Browning, the renowned English poet, died last night, Though an old man, seventy-seven years of age, he still seemed vigorous and hearty. Death came quietly and painlessly.

Browning was a scholar. He was educated at the London University and gave early promise of a life of greatness. His dramatic works, which were among his first, brought him considerable reputation. His "Men and Women" is probably his best known work, although "Dramatic Lyrics" contain almost faultless poems.

In point of brilliancy and vigor of thought, he was the peer of Tennyson, but his poems never gained the popularity that fell to the lot of the latter's works. He often affected obscurity and vagueness of meaning. In the opinion of many it is a sign of culture to admire the works of the dead poet, and someone has said that "When Browning dies, Boston will go into mourning."

His wife, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, who was also a distinguished writer, died in 1861.

WHAT a beautiful appearance our country thoroughfares would take on if they were roofed to keep the rain and snow from spoiling them, and how picturesque the country would appear to one driving over them. The country would look as if streaked with cattle sheds, and a drive would seem like a monotonous journey through a tunnel. The only person, possibly, who would enjoy roads so improved we imagine would be country swains out driving with their best girls. Much as the roads need to be made passable the year round it is not likely that the people would be willing to exchange a great part of the beauty of the country for passable roads through it.

MR. GOWEN'S DEATH.

The suicide of Franklin B. Gowen, at Washington yesterday, carries a shock not only to the wide circle of that gentleman's personal acquaintances, but to the thousands who knew and admired his high reputation for business ability, and outspoken opposition to all forms of dishonesty in public affairs.

What could have been the cause which impelled him to end his own life, is, at this writing, wholly unknown. Business troubles he is supposed to have freed himself from, since his retirement from the Reading Railroad years ago; scandal has never soiled his reputation and private misfortunes of a character to suggest such an act have not been heard of in connection with his name. It is impossible to suggest any theory for his suicide except that of temporary insanity, induced perhaps by a life of active and constant work.

Whatever the cause of his death, it must be conceded that in losing Mr. Gowen, Pennsylvania loses one of her best and brightest public characters. In his career as President of the Reading Railroad Mr. Gowen's policy was not free from the usual corporate vices; but his fierce opposition to political dishonesty and his active work against discriminations and trusts have more than compensated for his errors in corporate management. All Pennsylvania will join in mourning his sudden and tragic end.

Good Times Ahead.

The outlook for good times in and around Bellefonte in the near future were never before so good as they are now. With all the iron works—Collins' furnace, the Centre Iron Company, McCoy & Linn's, the Nail Works and the foundries in this place all running full blast, and with the glass works soon to be put in operation, the new pottery business now under way and the prospective creamery—the building for which is about completed, there will be such a list of industries around this place that it will give employment to every man that will work and the prospects are that good wages will be paid.

When all the above named enterprises are in full blast there will undoubtedly be better times in Bellefonte than ever was known here. Then there is the new A. G. Morris stone quarries soon to be opened, the railroad to which is now under way and if when next summer comes work on the Bellefonte and Eastern railroad be again resumed, as now expected, why Centre county and vicinity will experience such a business boom as even the wisest never contemplated.

In view of all this would it not be well to reorganize the Board of Trade and, in the interest of business and new enterprise, work to and for the good of the town. With such action at the proper time enough business and enterprise could be induced to locate here to stimulate the growth of Bellefonte to twice its size—which would be an immeasurable advantage to all business now located here as well as to every merchant, business or laboring man in this vicinity. This is a matter that is worth while looking into and now would be a good time for to start the ball a rolling.

TOUCHING and peculiarly appropriate resolutions in memory of Dr. Higbee, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, were adopted by the city teachers at the opening session of the institute Monday. Dr. Higbee was expected at the meeting of the Institute here this week. When the Institute was opening, however, the funeral of the lamented Superintendent was taking place at Lancaster, attended by the Governor and the State officials.

THE railroads should offer no objection to the ship-canal project to the great lakes. Col. Roberts points out that with the canal will come new industries and development of those we have, and with them will come a large increase in population, which will furnish high-classed freight that will more than compensate the railroads for the loss of the bulkier freight handled by the canal.

CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER appears to have offended some of the Democratic leaders by the endorsment which he gave to the validity of the constitutional amendments in his recent oration on Washington. To the old fire-eaters and strict constructionists nothing is more repulsive than the idea that the Constitution is constitutional.

A CHANCE OF A LIFETIME.

The price of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN is $1.50. We want 500 new subscribers before the 1st of January, 1890. How are we going to get them? Simply by giving more than has ever been given before in this county. Everybody wants to read a county paper, and all try to get the best. The REPUBLICAN is now as good a paper, and will, ere long be THE BEST in the county. We now make the following offer:

To all persons subscribing between this and the first day of January, 1890, and sending us $1.50 in cash, we will send them this paper from now until January 1, 1891; and, in addition, will send them the Philadelphia WEEKLY PRESS FREE.

Do not miss this chance. Subscribe now.

DOWN SOUTH.

In the Sunny Land of Oranges and Peanuts.

We have contracted with the Southern News Bureau to furnish us weekly letters treating of the agricultural, manufacturing, mining and industrial progress generally. Also, the political, society and general news during the year. We shall publish a series of letters treating on what they grow and how they grow, or crops successfully grown in the South.

We recognize the fact that a great many in this section are interested in the Southern States, either through curiosity or on account of some friends who have gone or are intending to make their homes down there. The news we shall publish will be reliable. The Bureau has at its head the Hon. John T Patrick, of North Carolina, who is not only a thorough newspaper man, having gone from the "paste pot to the editorial chair" of southern journalism; but was for eight years Commissioner of immigration of his native State; and when resigning from that position it was to take a similar position for the entire Southern States, under a combination formed by the various State Governments. Mr. Patrick has the excessive ability, and will make the "Bureau of industrial News and Southern Correspondence" a success. As assistants, he has called to his aid men of northern birth of both political parties, who have made their homes in the Southern States.

Our paper will be the only one in this county receiving the southern letters—we having contracted for the exclusive privilege of this county. This new feature will be one among other improvements we shall add to the NEWS for the year 1890.

Forum Announcement.

The contents of the Forum are, like the contents of a newspaper, so confined to subjects which demand present attention that announcements of them cannot be made far in advance. During the year 1890 there will be discussions of all important subjects brought forward by political, social, religious, and scientific events; for, since The Forum was founded, there has been no problem of great public concern that has not been discussed in its pages by the masters of the subject on either side. Early in the year following essays will be published:

CARDINAL MANNING—Laborer's Grievances.

Gen. FRANCIS A. WALKER—The Coming World's Fair.

JOHN G. CARLISLE—How the Tariff Affects the Farmer.

W. H. MALLOCK—The Relation of Art to Truth.

President C. K. ADAMS—The Moral Perils of College Life.

Prof. ST. GEORGE MIVART—The Omniscience of Agnosticism.

Gen. HENRY L. ABBOTT—The Effect of New inventions upon Warfare.

ANDREW D. WHITE—The Disadvantages under which Science is taught.

Lieut. BRADLEY A. FISKE—Naval Warfare under New Conditions.

FRANCIS POWER COBBE—Secular Changes in Human Character.

Prof. R. H. THURSTON—Aerial Navigation.

Sir RICHARD BURTON—Drawbacks of High Civilization.

EDMUND YATES—The Development of Journalism.

Major J. W. POWELL—The Antiquity of Man in America.

Prof. GOLDWIN SMITA—Woman Suffrage.

THE verdict in the Cronin case marks the conclusion of one of the most remarkable murder trials on record. Whether the finding of the jury is just or not, the public will feel relieved now that it is over.

Mrs. T. R. Reynolds has gone to Washington, D. C., where she will probably spend the entire winter. Her presence will be greatly missed in Bellefonte society.

GENERAL NOTES.

Over 5,000 Russians have settled in and around Eureka, Cal., within a year.

Within the last 20 years the courts in Kansas have granted 7,191 divorces.

Twenty-four sportsmen shot 485 rabbits in the vicinity of Jerseyville, Ill., the other day.

Minnows two inches long are said to have been taken from a 74-foot well at New Iberia, La.

A spring of petroleum discovered in the Wisconsin iron range has been tested and proven genuine.

Jules Millet, a nephew of the celebrated French painter, lives in New York and makes brierwood pipes for a living.

There are some drugs which are said to be worth $2,000 a bottle, and the druggists say they don't make much on them either.

A Salem county, N. J., woman, past 30 years of age, saw the railroad and took her first ride in a passenger train a day or two ago.

Farmer Harms, of Kent, Kings county, Ore., cut down a cottonwood tree last week, from which he took 700 pounds of fine honey.

The largest salmon ever taken from the Tweed were caught recently. The weight of four of them were as follows: 43, 44, 48 and 55 pounds.

A year ago, in Henderson, Ky., Mrs. Mary Beck, aged 64, and Wallis E. Yanson, aged 24, were married. The old woman is now seeking a divorce

Phonographs are to be put in the post-offices of Mexico, to be used by persons unable to write, in order to send messages to friends through the mails.

Her American tour will net Patti $500,000. This will go a long way toward her household expenses in the Welsh castle with the unpronounceable name.

Waiters in Washington hotels have adopted a new method of obtaining Christmas tips. They place before helpless guests cups bearing the legend "Remember Me."

A company is engaged in building a new hotel in London which will cater exclusively for American patronage. It is to be called the Columbia and it is to have an American bar.

A wealthy Colorado woman says that the begging letters which have reached her during the last six weeks called, in the aggregate, for a sum of money as large as her entire fortune.

The belle at a recent dog feast on an Indian reservation in Dakota wore a jacket trimmed with teeth from 150 elks, which she herself had slain. She is the granddaughter of the chief of the tribe.

A social authority declares that a man can afford to dress badly if he is a genius or a chump. But if he isn't one or the other of these two things, he must toe the mark of fashionable convention.

John N Matthews, who operates a Government distillery in Madison county, Georgia, says a majority of the distillers of the State will abandon the business if negro officials are forced upon them.

The Italian Admiral Albini thinks that the future man-of-war will have double screws and a helm at each end, so that in battle it need waste no time in turning around. Its sides will be unarmored.

A family at West Bethel, Me., consists of a couple, 85 and 80 years of age respectively; who live alone and do most of their work. But they do not lack for music or excitement—they keep 15 pet cats.

A citizen of Hawkinsville, Ga., who was suffering from asthma, was advised to try a remedy sometimes used by the negroes. He got a hornet's nest, boiled it, made a tea, drank the liquid and was completely cured.

A big black diamond picked up in Brazil is on exhibition in New York. It looks like a piece of chestnut coal in the rough, but it would take a good many tons of coal of any kind to equal the value of this lump. It weighs 367½ carats, and is worth $5,000.

A lately married Belfast, Me., couple cannot be accused of hasty action. They were published and the certificate was issued a year ago, but the knot was not tied until last Friday. A young lady who has had experience, suggests that the bride probably had to wait for the dressmaker.

A whistling contest, open to young ladies only, occurred at the Congregational Church in Litchfield, Mich., Tuesday evening, and the oldest inhabitant confessed he never before saw such a puckering of ruby lips. Miss Pearl Playford took first prize with an andante quaver that made the windows rattle.

IF an office seeks out a citizen and insists upon being filled, we do not say he should flee from it, but the man who devotes his energies and sometimes his money, to the pursuit of place is in danger of disappointment.

IT is now in order for "Uncle John" to continue his investigation of the Supply Committee. Chairman Jones will no doubt open the books willingly.

THE Sunbury Daily comes out enlarged and greatly improved. The sprightly Daily deserves the prosperity which it is evidently enjoying.

Our Story Teller.

LULU'S REVENGE.

What a perfect shame she got here to-day!

Sh—sh—she might hear you.

Nonsense! she is down in the reception room. I don't suppose if she is from the back woods she can hear through floors.

Girls I am ashamed of you. How can you be so unfeeling toward your cousin?

I don't care mamma, she is sure to be awkward and dowdy. How can we have her at the dinner table to-night? I shall die of mortification to have to introduce her as our cousin to Mr. Raynor.

Perhaps she will be too tired to come down to dinner after such a long ride. It is a little awkward to add another to a set dinner table.

Oh! mamma, bless you for the thought. You can tell her she is too tired.

You can arrange it I know.

Well I'll try.

These were the sentences that fell on the ears of pretty Lulu Haverill as she sat in her own room. She had told the servant to tell her aunt and cousin she was two tired to wait to see them but would be down to dinner. This room communicated by folding doors with the room in which her aunt and cousins were sitting.

Lulu! what a name! continued the first speaker. Who ever heard of such a name?

Her name is Lurena, replied the mother; but Lulu was given to her when a child.

Well, I shall call her Lurena.

And I, too.

Your father will not like it, said Mrs. Haverill.

But we must go down.

A swift rush of three women down the staircase, three loud exclamations of dismay at the empty reception room, looks of dismay and a smothered whisper of vexation.

How stupid of Mary, do you suppose she heard—these were the next scenes in the swift little drama which here begun so inauspiciously under Mr. William Haverill's roof this morning.

Mary, where is my niece, demanded the mother.

And she said, as how ma'am she would like to go to her room, as she was too tired to see you,

Mary! do you mean to say she has been in her room all the time?

Yes, ma'am, wonderingly.

Mary, go away.

She has heard us, she couldn't help it, what shall we do?

While aunt and cousins are in this state, Lulu is in her room saying, I just will do it. I will learn them how they are talking in that way. There, they are coming to my room but I won't let them in. What do you want? (in an impatient tone.)

We bid you welcome my dear, and I came to tell you also we are going to have a dinner party to-night, but no doubt you will be too tired to come down.

Be too tired to come down! not a bit of it aunt. I'll just bunk down and go to sleep, and I'll be fresh as a rooster against dinner time, thank you for your welcome, now I will go asleep.

A look of dismay crossed their faces and they hastily retired.

When they reached the drawing room they exchanged looks.

Horrible! cried the youngest daughter, Carrie. Its worse than I ever conceived. How could papa send for her?

He has had not seen her since she was 10 years old, said Mrs. Haverill, dismally. Of course he did not dream she would be like this. He has always said her mother was a charming woman, and they lived in Europe several years when she was little. It is horrible girls.

Bunk down! ejaculated the eldest daughter, Sophia.

Fresh as a rooster! echoed Carrie. Mamma, I shall go to bed myself and be too ill to appear to-night. I never can live through it! never! I don't believe Mr. Raynor will ever cross our threshold again.

Then he is welcome to stay away, said Mrs. Haverill hotly.

While this distressed consultation was going on between Mrs. Haverill and her daughters, Lulu, safe locked in her room was holding one with herself. Tears sparkled in her eyes but her face was full of mirth. I will, she muttered. I will make him fall in love with me whether I like him or not, I will do it just to spite them. I know I can it will teach them a good lesson. And I will look irresistable. Let me see, what will I wear? I've got it now, that white surah silk. It was an exquisite French gown, such as her cousin had never owned and not often seen. Now I can go to sleep and rest easy for an hour, awkward and dowdy. They will wish they had never said that, for lovely I will be. And in five minutes the mischievous Lulu Haverill was fast asleep.

Anxiety and vexation had made Carrie ill and it was with a most unbecoming flush on her harrassed face that she appeared in the drawing room a few minutes before the dinner hour.

There sat the cousin from Kansas.

How do-you do. Her voice was naturally lovely but she made it ten times more so. Carrie returned her greeting coldly but Lulu didn't care. Have you seen mamma and Sophia? she asked.

Oh yes, they just went out. Who is coming to-night, are there very many? Because I am not dressed for a large party, with a glance at her cousin.

Lulu, to say that she was dressed exquisitely! her dress a dainty white surah silk, with billowy reaches of white lace from belt to hem, the soft clinging gloves to the shoulders, the opal bracelets, the white ostrich feather fan, the white satin slipper, all were lovely.

Carrie turned a lively red as she glanced at herself and then at her cousin. If that wasn't fit for a large party what kind of a dress had she?

The guests were already arriving, Mr. Haverill among them he having, according to the fashion of New York business men, arrived home only in time to dress for dinner. His heart was so full of affectionate welcome for his niece, whom he remembered well as a beautiful child of ten, only half a dozen years ago, that he did not note anything but the uplifted eyes and affectionate voice.

And Mr. Raynor, who to Carrie's vexation, on being told by her that the young lady in white was a cousin who had arrived most inopportunely from Kansas, had exclaimed: From Kansas, how delighted I am! That is the one of all others I am the most interested in seeing. I am going out there in the spring. If all the Kansas ladies have so wonderful a complexion as your cousin that is another reason for visiting the region. Pray present me to her: I should like to ask her many questions. Perhaps, he stammered, with the curious mixture of diffidence and audacity one so often sees in Englishmen, perhaps your mother will be so very good as to let me have the pleasure of sitting by her side at dinner, that is if it will not disarrange your plan.

I am quite sure Mamma will not relinquish the pleasure of having you chiefly to herself at dinner, quickly responded Carrie, her heart full of anger and mortification.

Nevertheless Mr. Raynor heard the soft, lovely voice several times and thought to himself, I will talk to her after dinner.

Lulu never told anyone what she had done except Mr. Raynor, after she had been for several weeks his wife. I thought it was so unjust in them, she said; so cruel, I'd just give them a lesson and let them see that if I was awkward and dowdy, and I was determined for you to fall in love with me whether I liked you or not.

But you did like me, my darling, he replied.

Why 1900 Is not a Leap Year.

The following explanation will show you why the year 1900 will not be counted among leap years: The year is 365 days 5 hours and 49 minutes long; 11 minutes are taken every year to make the year 365¼ days long, and every fourth year we have an extra day. This way is Julius Cæsar's arrangement. You may ask: "Where do these eleven minutes come from?" They come from the future, and are paid by omitting leap year every 100 years. But if leap year is omitted regularly every 100 years, in the course of 400 years it is found that the eleven minutes taken each year will not only have been paid back, but that a whole day will have been given up. So Pope Gregory XIII., who improved on Cæsar's calendar in 1582, decreed that every centurial year divisible by four should be a leap year after all. So we borrow eleven minutes each year, more than paying our borrowings back by omitting three leap years in three centurial years in the fourth centurial year. Pope Gregory's arrangement is so exact and the borrowing and paying back balanced so nicely, that we borrow more than we pay back to the extent of only one day in 3'866 years.—St. Louis Republic.

MARRIED ON THE RAIL.

The strange wedding of a couple of Corry, Pa., on Thanksgiving day has just leaked out. They were anxious to evade the marriage law of this State, and securing the sympathy and aid of a minister decided to be married on New York soil with the least possible trouble and and loss of time. They boarded a train on the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio Railroad and took Conductor Everts into their confidence.

As soon as the State line was passed the minister pulled off his overcoat, hustled the bride and groom to the rear of the car, and united them while the train was slowing up to stop at the next station. Here the train westward was met, and the entire party left Conductor Everts' train and took the train back to Corry, where they surprised all their friends with the account of the quick tying of the nuptial knot aboard a passenger coach.

EXTRACTS FROM THE ANNUAL ADDRESS.

Of Worthy Master, Hon. Leonard Rhone Before the Present Session of the State Grange.

In compliance with a long established custom I submit my annual report together with some suggestions and recommendations for the good of the Order.

As representatives, you are assembled for the purpose of devising new work and giving energy to thoughts and principles already enunciated by our great organization for the promotion of the interests of our class. I trust that a spirit of unselfish devotion may characterize your proceedings and lead on to the accomplishment of the noble aims of our Order.

STATE OF THE ORDER.

During the year there has been an apt preciable advance in Grange work, which is very gratifying and general. In nearly every section of the State there is evidence of prosperity. The labors of our people have been unusually successful. Twenty-nine new Granges have been organized; seven reorganized, and more than two thousand five hundred new members enrolled.

The worthy Lecturer of the National Grange, Brother Whitehead, did good service in our State. He is always well received and large and interested audiences greet him wherever and whenever his services can be secured.

THE PICNICS AND EXHIBITIONS

held under the auspices of the organization, are constantly increasing in interest and influence. Each year adds additional evidence of appreciation by our people.

The meeting at Williams' Grove exceeded any previous year, and was a source of unbounded fraternal enjoyment. The magnificent exhibition of agricultural implements was in advance of previous years. Amusements were also abundant and choice intellectual attractions afforded by a number of most scholarly and accomplished speakers of the day.

The Central State Picnic and Exhibition held in the "Fort Woods," Centre county, was also successful beyond the most sanguine expectations of its friends and projectors. Thousands of people attended it, and went away delighted, wondering how so gigantic an enterprise could be so successfully and economically managed without any burden financially to our people.

COINAGE OF SILVER FREE.

The rich silver mines of that section would soon furnish sufficient money to carry all the surplus agricultural wealth produced beyond the Mississippi to the seaboard, without a single dollar from the East. And further. In place of eastern capital going west to seek investment in first mortgages on farms at eight, ten and twelve per cent. interest it would remain at home to stimulate legitimate trade and develope the untold resources of Eastern and Middle States.

If the trend of Legislation is ever changed in the direction I have indicated, it will be in response to the united, positive and persistent demand of the great wealth producing classes, and the sooner the demand is made and the clearer and more distinct the notes are sounded the better it will be.

I would respectfully recommend that provision be made for continuing the Committee on Legislation, in order that what has already been accomplished through your efforts, be not lost, and that still greater concessions in the interest of our class secured.

I congratulate the patrons of our own and other States that since we last met the Congress recognizing the justness of our demands, that the Commissioner of Agriculture should be elevated to a Cabinet officer, has been granted. To-day our great industry is represented in the Cabinet Council of Chief Executive of the Nation. The influence of an able and faithful representative as Secretary of Agriculture will certainly be beneficial.

The Grange has been a prominent factor in elevating our class and in leading in the great work of reform. It has demonstrated the forceful influence of organized effort in our own behalf. As representatives let your action be wise and liberal.

L. RHONE.

A company has been organized in the South to pay Jeff Davis's debts. It might extend its operations so as to include other people without making them enemies for life.

"Well, my dear, we should be comfortable enough here. Stationary tubs, stationary washstands, hot and cold water, and all modern improvements." "Yes John, that's all very nice, but where is the stationary domestic.

MISS WAITE (who has been a wallflower all the evening)—"A waltz? Mr. Henderson, you are too kind!" Mr. Henderson (host of the occasion)—"Not at all, Miss Waite. You know the performance of one's duty is some times sweeter than actual pleasure."

AT THE MASQUERADE—Quevedo—"How admirably Miss Walnut makes up a man. If one didn't know her it were impossible to distinguish her sex." Curtis—"There's one thing that unmasks her, though." Quevedo—'What's that?" Curtis—"Just watch her trying to find her pocket! you'll see."

Mr. McKinley did not get the Speakership, but there are other offices he can get if he wants. The Governorship of Ohio, for instance, not to mention any thing higher.

Don't fail to utilize all the turnip tops the garden affords. They make fine chicken feed. Either throw them on the ground, turnips and all, for the chickens to pick at, or tie them in bunches with a coarse string that will not cut, and weight them down with a rack. The turnips themselves, if cooked, mashed and mixed with bran and shorts, make excellent feed for laying hens and growing chicks.

In the Court House this Evening.

VERMONT ACADEMY, SAXTON'S RIVER, VT.

The entertainment by Mr. Powers drew the largest audience we have had this winter, although it was his first appearance here. I have heard nothing but the most enthusiastic praise from students and citizens. His characterizations from "David Copperfield" were marvellous. The instantaneous transitions from the pomposity of Micawber to the fawning and cringing of the "uncle" Uriah Heep, and again to the other characters, so different and yet made so real as to excite the wonder and admiration of all, seemed the work of a magician. The older and more discriminating enjoyed the masterly art displayed, and the younger part of the audience thoroughly enjoyed the fun. We all want very much to have him come again this season.

TWO HAPPY WEDDINGS.

One Celebrated in Lemont and the Other in Bellefonte.

Thursday was a lovely day—one just suited to the occasion of wedding festivities. In the Presbyterian church at Lemont, on Thursday afternoon, Lieut Leyden of Beech Creek, and Miss Hattie, daughter of Mr. John Foster, of State College, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Rev. Milton K. Foster, of Mifflinburg, performing the ceremony.

The ushers for the occasion were Messrs. James Hamill, Had Leyden, James R. Thompson and W. L. Foster. There were were no bridesmaids or groomsman. About three hundred persons were present to witness the ceremony. The happy couple departed on the 5 o'clock train through Bellefonte for New York and other eastern cities. The DAILY NEWS extends congratulations and best wishes.

VAN TRIES—MATTERN.

In the Presbyterian church in this place on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock Mr. George Van Tries of Bellefonte was united in holy wedlock to Miss Etta, daughter of Mr. David Mattern of Tyrone. About three hundred persons were assembled at the church to witness the ceremony. The ushers for the occasion were Messrs. Charlie Richards, Archie Allison, George Johnston and C. M. Parish. Will Singer, Esq., was best man and Miss Mary Bradley bridesmaid. Rev. Laurie performed the ceremony.

The bride was dressed in a cream white brocaded satin and carried a large boquet of choice flowers. The bridesmaid wore a dress of similar material and carried a basket of flowers. Both looked very lovely. The groom was dressed in the customary black and comported himself with great dignity and manly bearing.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of Dr. T. R. Van-Tries, on Spring street. The presents were numerous and valuable. The wedding party departed on the late train for the east.

"COPPERFIELD" IMPERSONATIONS.

MR. LELAND T POWERS, ENTERTAINS A LARGE AUDIENCE IN THE COURT HOUSE FRIDAY NIGHT.

About five hundred people were assembled in the Court House on Friday evening to hear and see Mr. Leland T Powers impersonate David Copperfield and a better entertained or more pleased audience has not been known in Bellefonte for a long time. The play is a peculiar one—made up of peculiar characters. The cast is composed of thirteen characters, beginning with "Fisherman Peggotty," then "Ham," his nephew, "David Copperfield," "Steerforth," "Uriah Heep," "Mr. Micawber," "Traddles," "Lawyer Wickfield," "Agnes Wickfield," his daughter, "Little Emily," Old Peggoty's darling; "Betsy Trotwood," "Mrs. Micawber," and "Martha Endell."

To anyone who has read the play it would be easy to recognize the similarity between the representations of Mr. Powers and their own impressions of just what the characters must be like. And to any who never have read the play the impersonation of Mr. Powers was so plain as to give them a correct idea of just what the book is like.

It was just twelve minutes of 8 o'clock when the Aeolian orchestra struck up the first tune and soothed the large audience present from a state of general disquietude to one of rapt attention and admiration for the specially well-executed music performed by the young men who compose the Aeolian. At 8 o'clock prompt, Mr. Leland T Powers entered the room under the escort of Prof Jas. R Hughes who, in a few well chosen words, introduced him to the audience, which received him with applause. A man small in stature, but with pleasing appearance, Mr. Powers stood before them. After a very brief description of the first act he commenced by impersonating David Copperfield. Without any apparent difficulty and right before the audience he would change his voice, bearing and appearance instantaneously as each character represented in the play appeared upon the scene. From the interesting David Copperfield to the fawning, twisting and 'umble Uriah Heep. From the deep and intensely earnest—even pathetic old Peggoty to the quick spoken, upoarous Mr. Micawber, and so on back and forth the transitions from one character to another were made so perfectly that if one had been blindfolded and could only have heard they would have believed themselves confronted by a full cast of characters who, each in his turn, appeared upon the scene. All in all it was an entertainment of great merit and if opportunity is ever again offered the people of Bellefonte to hear Mr. Powers we [venture the assertion that he will be greeted with a rousing audience.

Personally-Conducted Tours to Florida via Pennsylvania R. R.

As has been the custom for the past few winters the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will this season offer to its patrons a series of select tours to Florida The dates have been fixed for January 6th, 21st, February 4th, 18th, and March 4th, 1890. The party will travel by special train of Pullman Sleeping and Dining Cars, and they will go through via the Atlantic Coast Line on a fast schedule. The Tourist Agent and Chaperon will conduct each tour in both directions, and all the details of the tours will be carried out in that superior style for which these trips have become celebrated.

Excursion tickets, including railway transportation, Pullman accommodations and meals en route in both directions, will be sold at New York at $50, Philadelphia $48, and at proportionately low rates from other stations. They will be good only on the special trains, and will only be accepted for the return trip on the regular returning train of that tour. They will admit of a stay of two weeks in Florida.

The special train will leave New York at 9.20 A. M., stopping at Newark, Elizabeth, and Trenton, Philadelphia at 11.55 A. M., stopping at Wilmington, Baltimore, and Washington, arriving at Jacksonville next evening. Tourists from stations at which the special does not stop may use regular trains connecting with the special at the nearest point.

For tickets and itineraries, apply to ticket agents, or address S. W. F. Draper, 849 Broadway, New York, or 205 Washington Street, Boston.

Manners of Children.

Little civilities are so easily taught a child; they so inevitably cling to him hereafter, it is a burning shame that parents of sense and taste allow the simplest rules of politeness to be gathered from a later social intercourse, or to be donned and doffed like the Sunday dress. To the first lesson, not to put his knife to his mouth, can be added further injunctions just as important, which must be taught some time, with no real reason why they should not be taught now The only objection can be that too many rules bewilder and perplex, and that the most important are those of principle, not behavior. But principle should guide behavior. And object teaching is said to be wearisome. If one sees and knows only the right way, how will he learn the wrong?

A L DY'S PERFECT COMPAN ION.

PAINL ESS CHILDBIRTH, a new book by Dr. John H. Dye, one of New York's most skillful physicians, shows that pain is not necessary in Childberth, but results from causes easily understood and overcome. It clearly proves that any woman may become a mother without suffering any pain whatever. It also tells how to overcome and prevent morning sickness' swelled limbs, and all other evils attending pregnancy. It is reliable and highly endorsed by physicians everywhere as the wife's true private companion. Cut this out: it will save you great pain, and possibly your life. Send two-cent stamp for descriptive circulars, testimonials, and confidential letter sent in sealed envelope. Address FRANK THOMAS & Co., Publishers, Baltimore, Maryland.
13t. n. 15.

Never whip a horse when he is frightened or nervous, or try to force it up to the object that has caused the alarm draw in on the reins, suddenly speak out with assurance that you are not afraid, then turn the annimal a little way from the unpleasant sight and bid it go. A blow of a whip upon a frightened horse gives a double cause for violent action.

The Glass Works Will Start.

We have been reliably informed by Mr. L. T. Munson that one furnace of the glass works would be put in operation early next month. It will be started with coal but they hope ere long to be able to introduce gas as the fuel.

The Table.

Although the English fashion of starching napkins is generally abhorred, a decided preference is shown for their ample dimensions, and the 7x9 fringed doylies of Yankee origin has given place to the 34x25 inch piece of fine linen.

The knives and forks used at Anglo-Saxon larger and heavier than comfort requires. There is a leaning towards the light-weight cutlery of the French for the meats, and still lighter and daintier patterns for the other courses.

Colored glass, cut glass and engraved glass for wines are used very sparingly by people of taste. For lamp, flower, fruit, ice and sauce bowls the manufacturers' skill is taxed, but the simpler and clearer the crystal the better the gourmet appears to enjoy his wine.

To decant good wine is barbarous, and to serve any other kind is vulgar. In the course of pouring it from the bottle to the decanter the wine catches cold, loses its aroma and flattens generally.

The inserted strips of lace which are set into same of the imported tablecloths give one the sensation of dining off of a petticoat. In spite of the colored novelty cloths for tables, dressers and buffets the ideal spread is a fine damask as white as driven snow, laundered with a smooth, soft finish.

At a fashionable cooking class where the young daughters of society meet to study domestic economy as well as plain cooking, special attention is given to the theory and practice of eating. To England, glory is due for the best method, which is deliberate as well as dainty and consists in always taking the fork in the left hand and spoon in the right. The only time the fork is permitted in the right hand is for fish, when the kife is never touched.

Reorganization of the O. U. A. M.

Bellefonte council No 270, O. U. A. M. was reorganized on Friday evening by the ex-State Councilor, John Brunner, of Easton. There were about 30 members all told. After the organization and installation of officers they all repaired to Joseph Cedars' restaurant where a very tempting banquet was served. There were present about 25 visiting members from Snow Shoe and Milesburg.

Candle shades for dinner tables have apparently reached the acme of beauty and effect. The variety is endless, and new styles seems to be introduced from day to day.

THOUSANDS

Of people are looking for a present for some bright boys or girls. They will soon find that a year's subscription to SANTA CLAUS, the new illustrated young folk's weekly, is the best of all presents, for it is fifty-two gifts in one. It wakes up the duller children, and makes the bright ones still brighter, for they all like it.

"Veni, Vidi, Vici".

The Exposition is closed until October next. We saw it; it was great, being in its infancy, but we saw enough to convince ourselves of the fact that enterprise, such as displayed there, should not be passed by without some comment. But we still wonder why it was that only one whole-sale liquor house was so boldly represented. You could see its pyramid of bottles from any part of the great building. It was the prettiest display there. Max Klein has proved to the public that he wants to be seen. His "Silver Age" rye whiskey has now such a well earned reputation that he is proud of it and he wants every-body to see it. TO ADVERTISERS!

HOW TO GET THE MOST SERVICE FOR THE MONEY!

The Advertiser who would be willing to pay twenty-five cents for every family who could be "educated" up to the value of his goods would thus devote $3,000,000 to educate the 12,000,000 families which make up the 60,000,000 of the United States. This sum would do the business thoroughly in a year, for it is sufficient to pay for the insertion of a full column in every issue of every publication, and for resetting the matter, making it new in every issue of each separate publication. We will receive and execute the contract.

$5,000 One of the most successful Advertisers we ever had always ordered his advertisements in this way, "Get the best service you can for me for $5,000," leaving every detail to us. We were thus enabled to say to a Publisher, if you put this in at a large reduction from your rate it will be no criterion for further transactions. It was a surprise to find ourselves so often able to contract for the insertion of that particular advertisement at half rates, in papers which would not permit us to OFFER their columns at a penny's deviation from a printed schedule. The advertising rates of one New York paper are double those of another which has twice the circulation of the first. Similar discrepancies are not uncommon. The advertisement intrusted to us to be placed in accordance with our judgment often does double service for half the money. A dollar for twenty-five cents.

$1,000 If we are given authority to insert advertisements to a limited amount, in such mediums as ofier inducements which seem to us specially favorable, we shall not abuse the confidence reposed in us, and shall render statements of whatever is done (if anything) from day to day. When TRUSTED with the placing of an advertisement, we are put upon honor, and are bound in honor to give the best service possible for the money to be used.

$500 Leading Newspapers, especially the leading Agricultural Nswspapers, frequently issue large special editions (of twenty, fifty, a hundred, or even five hundred thousand copies,) and eslicit advertisement orders from us on terms which would often be accepted by our patrons if there was time to invite attention to the matter; but the question must generally be decided before there would be time to write and receive a reply, and often the case cannot be fully stated within the limits of a letter.

$250 Prepare a small advertisement and send with check for $250, or any other sum. The practice of asking the Agent to name his papers in advance compels him to name such as are well known, otherwise there is reason to suspect that his judgment is biased;—and the best papers do not like to have their rates quoted below their schedule.

$100 The advertiser who sends his advertisements asking for the best service possible for one hundred dollars, will often get from five to fifty per cent more service for his money, than he would had he required us to tell him in advance exactly what service we would promise; for when an estimate has been given its plan and specifications must, in a general way at least, control the advertising to be done: It ties the Agent's hands and prevents his giving his patrons TO-DAY a better service than he could have promised yesterday, because yesterday the opportunity had not presented itself: to-morrow it may have passed! Some publications are used more economically on contracts for a single issue; in others insertion for a month may be had as cheaply as for a single week but in furnishing an estimate in advance, if the Agent attempts to go into details, his correspondence becomes voluminous and the advertiser confused.

$50. If you are in the habit of occasionally inserting a small advertisement in a few papers, investing a few dollars and carefully noting the result; we desire you to make trial of our Advertising Bureau, sending us the advertisement and the money, leaving the selection of the papers to us, and judging of the service rendered by results rather than by names, circulation claims or prices. To make up careful estimates calls for much work. It don't pay to make them indiscriminately for every applicant. If such estimates as are asked for were always given the Advertiser who wished to expend $50 would frequently find himself in posession of a scheme which it would cost $500 or possibly $5,000 to carry out.

$10. We devote all necessary care to placing small orders for Advertising:—even the smallest! Time is saved by sending check with the order. Often the Advertiser is not possessed of sufficient information on the subject to enable him to judge of the merits of an estimate for advertising, and he decides by the footings of the figures whether he will or will not do the work. Yet the estimate binds the Agent and makes it improper for him to make any variation in its specifications, however much his judgment may point to material changes which ought to be made. This is specially liable to be the case when the order comes a considerable time after the estimate was made.

A Good Magazine.

Now that everybody is looking about them to see what Magazine they will take for the coming year, we would advise them to inquire into the merits of DEMOREST'S FAMILY MAGAZINE. We have just received the January number of this wonderful publication, and cannot speak too highly in its praise. It is certainly what its name implies, A FAMILY MAGAZINE; for in it will be found something to amuse or instruct every member of the family. The first article, telling how Uncle Sam's Paper-Money is maked, is beautifully illustrated, and furnishes the most interesting information upon any subject that we have every seen. "The Infant Monarchs of Europe" is not only illustrated with their portraits, but with those of their parents as well, "The Undying Voice" is a finely illustrated article about Edison's wonderful Phonograph, and includes a portrait of the great inventor himself. The children will be delighted with "Snow Sculpture," which gives them models enough to keep them busy all winter. Besides these, there are "Until One O'clock" (A Comedietta) "Scarlet Fever and other Contagious Diseases, Their Causes and Treatment." "Aids to Beauty," "Maniac Bells," "Wedding Breakfasts," "All Sorts of Teas," "Home-Made Candies," Anecdotal History of the Table," and numerous other articles and stories, also a fine Fashion Department; and all beautifully embellished with over two hundred fine illustrations, the crowning one of which is "Parisian Florist's," a handsome oil picture, well worthy of a frame. The mystery is how such a publication can be furnished for only $2.00 per year. It is done, however, by W. JENNINGS DEMOREST, 15 East 14th St., New York.

THE WEEKLY PRESS
For 1890 will be as much better than THE WEEKLY PRESS for 1889 as we can make it. With every issue during the new year it will be

AN EIGHTY-COLUMN PAPER.
Each of the fifty-two numbers will contain ten pages, or eighty columns, with a total for the year of 520 pages, or 4160 columns. Thus it will be as "big as a book," as the saying is.

A PAPER OF QUALITY.
Not only will it be as big as a book, but it will be a paper of quality as well as of quantity. It will contain the pick of everything good.

A PAPER OF VARIETY.
The idea is that THE WEEKLY PRESS shall be both clean and wideawake. It will discuss all subjects of public interest and importance. The writers on its list include Julia Ward Howe, E. Lynn Linton, Prof. N. S. Shaler, Louis Pasteur, William Black, Edmund Gosse, Edgar W. Nye, Opie P. Reid, and, indeed, almost every popular writer of note in this country and quite a number of distinguished writers abroad. In fiction, an attraction of the year will be "Esther," by H. Rider Haggard; another serial story, already engaged, will be "Come Forth," by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps.

A FARMER'S PAPER.
The best conducted agricultural paper in America. Illustrations.

A WOMAN'S PAPER.
The Women's page of The Weekly Press is alone worth the subscription price. Its illustrations are attracting attention everywhere.

A CHILDREN'S PAPER.
The special department for children is now addressed to the school children and school teachers of America. Let the children join the new Rainbow Club just started. Let them compete for the prizes—all in bright, wholesome, instructive books.

IMPORTANT CLUBBING ARRANGEMENT.
By special arrangement with all the leading weekly and monthly periodicals of America, subscriptions are taken for any one or more of these journals in connection with The Weekly Press at such low rates as virtually makes our great family paper FREE to the subscriber for one year.
Sample copies furnished free upon application.

CLASHING CLASSES.

Germany Has a Big Tariff Problem to Deal With.

THE DUTIES ON PROVISIONS.

Farmers Want Them Retained, and Artisans and Miners Cry for a Reduction—Coolie Labor May Be Introduced—Postman Robbed.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The serious decline in the amount of agricultural products raised in Germany has provoked much discussion there, and the remedies suggested are as numerous as the suggesters. The agriculturists are unanimous against the lowering of duties upon breadstuffs and other provisions, and the prevailing influences in the reichstag is in harmony with them.

Against these "farmers' friends," as they style themselves, are arrayed the artisans of the city and the miners, Socialists at heart, who bitterly feel the results of the tariff on grain. As to meat, they have almost given up hopes of making its acquaintance again.

The men who would naturally be engaged in tilling the soil are occupied in the more important duty of learning how to scientically slaughter their neighbors, and throughout several provinces of Germany women alone can be seen handling the awkward implements unimproved for many generations.

The Remedy.

The remedy now proposed, and which meets with many advocates among the land proprietors throughout Pomerania and Brandenburg, is to import coolie labor. This is not a jest or a mere suggestion, but a project that is being thoughtfully considered. To introduce a class of helots into Germany who would scarcely be likely to revolt against their masters, who would attend to the raising of the necessary food products and allow the natives of the soil to devote all their energies to the study and practice of warfare, might prove an interesting experiment; but even its most enthusiastic advocates must acknowledge that there are many objections to the plan, all aspects being considered.

There would soon be a Chinese persecution, as there is now a Jew baiting, and the moral as well as the physical views of the new condition of affairs would present situations that would appear to the outside world more curious than dignified.

Did the Thieves Get the Diamonds?

LONDON, Dec. 18.—While a postman was delivering mail on Hatton Garden he was attacked by three men. He resisted stubbornly, but was finally overpowered, not, however, until he had been badly wounded.

The robbers then locked him in a room. They seized the mail and decamped. It is stated that the mail comprised a registered package of diamonds from the Cape of Good Hode.

The postoffice officials deny this, however, and assert that the diamonds from the Cape had already been delivered.

Thanks for the Dean.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The Very Rev. G. Granville Bradley, dean of Westminster, has received a memorial of gratitude for his offer to provide a place for the remains of Poet Browning in Westminster Abbey. The memorial is signed by Lord Tennyson, the Poet Swinburne, Sir Frederick Leighton, Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, Francis T. Palgrave, the poet, and many others.

Famine in Galicia.

VIENNA, Dec. 18.—Famine is prevalent throughout Galicia, owing to short crops and the recent terrific snow storms. The peasantry are killing their horses for food in order to husband their small stores of grain against a season of greater privation.

Heaping Honors on Stanley.

ZANZIBAR, Dec. 18.—The British consul general, Mr. Evan-Smith, entertained Stanley at dinner Monday evening. All the notables were present. The ships in the harbor were illuminated in Stanley's honor.

Boulanger Still at It.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—Boulanger has issued another manifesto treating of the action of the chamber of deputies validating the election of M. Joffrin, which protest is a flagrant violation of Republican principles.

The Trial of Editor Parke.

LONDON, Dec. 18.—The trial of the libel suit of the Earl of Euston against Editor Parke, of The London Press, has been set down for Thursday.

The Emperor Will Attend the Funeral.

VIENNA, Dec. 18.—The funeral of Cardinal Gangibauer will be attended by the Emperor Francis Joseph.

John Greenleaf Whittier's Birthday.

BOSTON, Dec. 18.—Tuesday was the eighty-second anniversary of the birth of the Quaker poet, John Greenleaf Whittier. A few days ago the newspapers made known to the public Mr. Whittier's desire that on this anniversary the friends and admirers who were wont to gather around him on his birthday should leave him undisturbed. In his own gentle but firm way he said he was tired; that he felt their desires for his happiness; that he thanked and loved the people, but that he must rest. So that this form of extending felicitation was abandoned, and he was permitted to pass the day in peace and quiet.

Lost in the China Sea.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Dec. 18.—The ship Reporter, Capt. George Spaulding, of Newburyport, bound from Hong Kong to New York with a general cargo, is a total loss in the China sea. The captain and crew were saved. The Reporter was built in Newburyport in 1874 and was 1,350 tons burden. She was owned by Eben Sumner, E. P. Goodwin, A. and S. G. Caldwell and Capt. Spaulding, all of Newburyport. The ship was valued at $50,000, partly insured.

Mr. Jere Daley, son of J. A. Daley, of Curtin township, is one of the many school teachers in Bellefonte this week and one who did not forget to call at this office.

Miss Kane, one of the operators in the Tyrone telephone exchange, is visiting Miss Lyda Furey, in this place. Miss Kane attended the VanTries—Mattern wedding on Thursday evening.

Mr. William E. Crust, one of the enterprising farmers to the south of Bellefonte, was in Bellefonte this week and called at this office. Mr. Crust is a very genial and pleasant gentleman and we hope he may drop in often.

Mr. Ritchie, Principal, and Mr. Wilson, Superintendent of the Philipsburg schools, are in Bellefonte attendiug the county institute. They favored this office with a call on Monday afternoon and we found them very pleasant gentlemen.

The Lock Haven Democrat says that William Gohagan, formerly of Bellefonte but for many years a resident of New York City, was in town yesterday and to-day, having come here to attend the funeral of Dr. S A Gibson, who was his mother's brother.

Mrs. Sayre will to-morrow return with her daughter Mrs. Sterdevant, to her home in Scranton. The latter lady has been visiting her mother for about four weeks and is now just returning to her home. Mrs. Sayre will visit with her daughter for about one month returning then to her home in this place.

Prof. Bonbright and wife will, in the near future, open a school of elocution, music and voice culture in Crider's Exchange, this place. The Professor recited a piece entitled "The burial of Moses," at the institute on Monday afternoon in a way that was very convincing of his ability in what he professes to do.

Mr. Harry U. Tibbens, formerly a pupil of the High School in this place and from which he graduated last Spring, came to Bellefonte last Saturday evening. Harry was for some time employed on the Altoona Mirror as reporter and did good work in that capacity. He will doubtless be warmly welcomed by his many friends.

Prof. George P Bible spent a few days in Bellefonte last week and Monday morning departed on the early train for Mifflinburg where he held an entertainment that evening. Mr. Bible has been traveling through the southern counties holding elocutionary entertainments and from the notices appearing in the papers about him he is very popular in that part of the state.

Church Fair and Festival at Howard.

The Ladies Mite Society of the Evangelical church of Howard will sell ice cream and a number of other useful and fancy articles, for the benefit of the church, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, December 23d and 24th, 1889. To be held in Lucas' old store room.

Doctors In Prescribing Wines

The Physicians desire to give a liquor containing the extractive parts of the grapes, such as iron, grape-sugar and the other elements which give to port wine its special flavor or bouquet and its singular blood making properties from the iron that is contained in the coloring principle of pure Red Wine.

Speer's New Jersey Wines, especially his Port, are grown on a brown stone shale soil, rich in iron and from vines brought from the banks of the river Doura, in Portugal, where the finest ports in the world are made, but none ever reach this country in a pure state. Speer's Wines are regarded superior to any in the market. For sale by druggists.

Boils and Carbuncles Cured.

For years I have been constantly troubled with humors in the blood, which caused the breaking out of boils and carbuncles all over my body, that when bruised would make a lasting, ugly sore. I consulted many eminent physicians and took a great deal of medicine without any perceptible benefit. Nothing helped me but Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) That medicine cured me! I am now enjoying excellent health, and there is not a blemish of any kind on my body. MICHAEL MCHALE, Buio, Nebraska.

Inherited Scrofula.

Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) cured my little boy of hereditary scrofula, which broke out all over his face. For a year he suffered, and I had given up all hopes of his recovery, when at length I was induced to use S. S. S. After using a few bottles he was entirely cured. Not a symptom now remains of the disease. This was three years ago.
Mrs. T. L. MATHERS, Mathersville, Mass.

A Sexton Speaks.

Mr. John A. Cleary, sexton of Oakwood Cem-Waco, Texas, says: "Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) is a sure cure for any decription of blood poison! About a year ago I contracted a poisonous blood disease, and tried a number of remedies without avail. I was about to become disheartened, when a friend induced me to try (S. S. S. After taking a part of one bottle I was a sound man, and ne symptoms of the fell disease have ever returned."

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

—De Voe, the great weather prophet, makes the following forecast for the present winter. He says: "The ice men will not have to look far for a supply this season. We will have good sleighing the day before Christmas and it will last for weeks. There will be two severe storm belts this winter, one along the lakes, and the other near the gulf. We are between these and will not suffer so much. All of the storms will form in the west and decrease in energy as they approach the Atlantic coast. The coldest weather will occur from December 25 to 31."

Unable to Tell.

Yes, that was so. For years I suffered severely with scrofula; sores broke out over my body, and I am unable to tell one half that I suffered. I was not able to obtain relief until I used Sulphur Bitters, which completely cured me.—C B Dale, 17 Allston street, Boston.

A RECENT discovery by Professor Holden of Lick Observatory, concerning the "Real Shape of the Spiral Nebula," will be described in January Century.

Holiday Excursion Tickets on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Pursuant to the usual policy of aiding its patrons in the interchange of social visits during the holidays, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will, this season, place on sale at all its ticket offices, excursion tickets to be sold between the various stations on the system at the rate fo two cents permile in each direction.

The holiday excursion tickets will be sold from December 21st, 1889, to January 1st, 1890, inclusive, valid for return until January 4th, 1889, inclusive.

This arrangement, however, does not apply to the sale of excursion tickets between New York and Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington, in either direction, nor between any one of the above-named cities and any other of these mentioned.

Now Is The Time To Subscribe

TO THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW.

Arrangements have been made for the coming year which will maintain for the REVIEW its unrivalled position among periodicals, and render it essential to every reader in America who desires to keep abreast of the times. From months to months topics of commanding interest in every field of human thought and action will be treated of in its pages by representative writers, whose words and names carry authority with them.

The forthcoming volume will be signalized by the discussion of questions of high public interest by the foremost men of the time, noiably by a controversy on Free Trade and Protection in their bearing upon the development of American Industry and Commerce, between the two most famous living statesmen of England and America

The Right Hon. W. E. GLADSTONE

AND

Hon. JAMES G. BLAINE

This discussion, embracing the most important contributions ever made to an American periodical, will begin in the January number.

It is a significant fact—as showing the unparalleled popularity and usefulness of this periodical and its wide influence upon public opinion—that the circulation of THE NORTH AMERICAN REVIEW is greater than that of of all other American and English Reviews combined.

N Y TRIBUNE FOR 1890

NEW FEATURES.

A BRILLIANT YEAR AHEAD.

During 1890 the New York Tribune will be greatly improved in quality and made more lively fresh and readable than ever before in its history. Among the special contributors during 1890 will be:

Andrew Carnegie, Gail Hamilton, Terrence V Powderly, Chauncey M Depew, Senator John J Ingalls, Mrs John A Logan, Rev Dr John R Paxton, Albert Griffin Judge A W Tourgee, S C T Dodd, "Josiah Allen's wife," Senator William M Stewart, Fred S Tallmadge, Kate Field, Erastus Wiman, Rev Edward Everett Hale, Bishop Henry C Potter, Geo W Cable, Marshall P Wilder, Henry W Grady, I C Russell, W M Grosvenor, L E Quigg, Emily Huntingdon, Ernest Whitney, Professor Wm Pepper and M V Beach.

☞ Other contributors will be announced hereafter. The articles from the above contributors will cost many thousands of dollars and will appear in the TRIBUNE only.

SOLDIERS' STORIES—

The Tribune will also print, in addition to its regular G A R and S of V page, a number of entertertaining stories of actual experience in the war, not less than 25 in number, each a page of the Tribune in length, by privates and officers of the Union, of a rank not higher than that of Captain. Veterans are invited to contribute to this series of stories. Every tale accepted will be paid for at regular newspaper rates. Prizes of $250, $150 and $75 will be paid for the best three. Manuscripts must be enclosed to "The Tribune, New York," and inscribed "Soldiers' Department."

PAPERS ON FARMING—

In addition to our regular and extremely able agricultural department (two pages a week) the Tribune will print a number of long and carefully prepared articles on particular branches of farming, written by practical experts. Farmers who want to make money out of their farms must read these special discussions in the Tribune. The will be supplied to readers during the coming year A large number of desirable and novel premiums are added to our list, and they are offered at terms which will enable our readers to obtain them at practical wholesale rates. Send 2 cent stamp for our 20 page catalogue.

VALUABLE PRIZES—

One hundred special prizes will be distributed on May 1, 1890, among the club agents who have, up to that date, sent in the largest 100 clubs of local weekly and semi-weekly subscribers. These prizes will include a $750 piano, a $250 cabinet organ, a $150 solitaire diamond, a free trip to New York, with expenses there paid, etc., etc., being worth a total of $2,460.

Prizes are fully described in our 20 page catalogue; send 2 cent stamp for a copy.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: Weekly, $1 a year; Semi-weekly, $2. New subscribers receive the paper until January 1, 1890, free. Daily $10 a year. Library of Tribune Extras, 12 numbers a year, $2. THE TRIBUNE, New York.

TO JACOB D. THOMAS AND JENNIE THOMAS, Altamont, Effington County, Illinois; John L. Hoover, Bavaria; Saline County, Kansas; Elizabeth Stover, Mount Vernon, Davison County, Dakota; John Thomas, Loganville, Clinton County, Penn'a.; nonresident heirs of Jacob Thomas, late of Haines Township, Centre County, Penn'a;

TAKE NOTICE: That on the 7th day of December, 1889, the Orphan's Court of Centre County, upon petition of John S. Homan, present owner of lands hereafter more fully described, granted a Rule upon the heirs and legally representatives of said Jacob Thomas, deceased, to appear in court at Bellefonte, Penn'a., on Tuesday, January 7th, 1890, and show cause, if any they have, why said court should not decree the satisfaction of a certain recognizance in petition entered into before said court by George Y. Stover, dated August 27, 1867, and recorded in Orphans court Docket "G, page 166, etc." in the penal sum of $14,000 conditioned for the payment to the widow and heirs of said Jacob Thomas of the amounts respectively due them under said proceedings in partition out of the lands of decedent taken therein by said George Y. Stover, to wit: Two tracts in Haines Township, County aforsaid, one containing 218 acres one 28 perches and allowance, and the other containing four acres and 93 perches, both more fully described in the deed from said George Y. Stover, and wife to said John S. Homan dated April 1, 1868, and recorded in Centre County, in deed book "R., 2, page 174, etc." (which recognizance it is alleged has been fully paid and discharged) and directed that service of said rule be made upon the said heirs not residents of Centre county, by publication for 3 weeks in one newspaper published in Centre county.

SNOW SHOE, Dec. 16, '89.

Mumps, mumps, mumps!
A swelling under the skin,
Lump, lump, lump!
With lump in under the chin,
With chaps swelled round and round—
The mumps all over the town.

Poor Dom Pedro—he had to go—
He rules Brazil no more,
And now 'tis said—Not one crowned head
On fair Columbia's shore.

Canada now should have a row
And shake off Johnny Bull,
And make us free from sea to sea—
Likewise from pole to pole.

Mr. Emanuel Seyler sold his house and lot to Andrew Morgan last Wednesday.

George and John Neff, of Roland, Pa., came to Snow Shoe Friday and took part in a musical entertainment at the Presbyterian church Saturday evening.

Mr. John Hinton of Columbus, Ohio, and Mrs. Maggie Goodyear, of Philipsburg, are visiting their mother, Mrs, Mary Hinton, who has been dangerously ill for several days.

Saturday morning there was quite an interesting law suit before our Justice of the Peace about a pair of spectacles. For further information inquire of Constable R J Haynes, Jr.

Mr. Joseph Leathers, of Mt. Eagle, brought a load of produce to Snow Shoe on Friday and returned with a load of coal on Saturday.

Mr. J O Harm, Frank Watson, J S Ewing, and Meese Gunsallus, went to Bellefonte Friday afternoon and took part in organizing a new council of Americans.

Mr. Knocky, of Harrisburg, is in Snow Shoe at present. He has just sold Mr. C. Boak a handsome new piano.

Mr. W. G. Kesling, who was so badly injured by the train last Wednesday while in the discharge of his duty, is slowly improving. No amputating was done. The doctors think by hard work they can save both injured limbs.

The musical entertainment took place Saturday evening at the Presbyterian church. It was remarkably well attended for such disagreeable weather. Had it been a pleasant evening the church would have been crowded. The music—both vocal and instrumental—was excellent. The duet by Miss Edith Boak and Miss Clara Neff, and the solo by Mrs. Cameron Boak, deserve special mention. Several members of the Sunday school displayed remarkable talent in the manner in which they spoke their respective pieces. The recitation by Mrs. James Marsteller was alone worth the price of admission. This lady has remarkable talent as an elocutionist. Finally it was announced that the audience would be favored with a piece of instrumental music. When Rev. Morton mounted the platform and pulled off his coat in regular John L. Sullivan style, George Rote became so frightened that he sank down behind a sofa and exclaimed: "Johnnie, get your gun," and the three Neff boys crouched in terror behind the lady members of the choir whose blanched cheeks were like the driven snow. Great was their surprise when the reverend gentleman assumed the attitude of a bashful country swain and sang "Coming through the rye," in such grand style as to receive the heartiest applause of the evening.

MILLHEIM.

Dr. Frank has had some mountain gravel hauled on his driveway through his grounds. It is a most excellent article to put on roads to travel over. The rain and frost assist in pulverizing it until it becomes very fine and well packed rendering it very suitable for such use.

W. C. Heinle, Esq., was in Millheim last Friday night. He is a most excellent gentleman—all save his politics.

Mr. C. Gephart, of this place, has laid in a very large stock of Holiday goods. He has also a large stock of musical instruments on hand.

Stony Lonesome is one of the nicknames given to Southeastern part of Millheim and it was a very hard looking place after the flood.

HOUSERVILLE.

Henry Benner, the aged citizen (85 years of age) of this place who was mentioned last week as being very sick, died on Saturday, and was buried on Monday in the graveyard at Rock Forge. One brother survives him, Mr. Thomas Benner, now in the west, and one sister, Mrs Ruth Armor, of Bellefonte, who is now in her 92nd year. The Benner family years ago owned and operated the Rock Forge iron Works, and at that time were prominent in all public enterprises in this vicinity.

Wm. Dale is the happiest man in our village because of the arrival of a young daughter.

Ira Lyle has pitched his tent from Houserville to the Mattern's Ore Bank. Ira knows how to throw out the ore.

Wm. Coble is taking out timber for a new barn.

We are glad of the recovery of Mrs. Carrie Cowher.

G S Keller is the boss horse trader of Houserville. He can't tell how often he trades in one week.

Wm. Emehizer has moved from near Eggtown to Houserville.

Harvey Houser, of Bellefonte, is visiting friends in this place.

Herman Baird, the champion harmonica player, will soon have blowed himself away.

The miller has a little mill, and it is run by water. He has an organ in his house to please his only daughter.

Samuel Wirts, the champion finisher of the Houserville woolen mills, is going to ply his old trade of carpet weaving after the holidays. Persons desiring No. 1 carpets can have them woven by Samuel in good style and good time.

George Cronomiller is a very happy man; he says it is a daughter.

There is a man near our town
Who bought a bran new cap,
He thinks he is old Buffalo Bill
A going out to trap.

Bill would you like to loan your cap to any other man?

Wants to Build His Own Gallows.

The condemned murderer, W. S. Hopkins, it is said, has signified his desire to build his own death-trap. He claims to be a carpenter by trade and says he could build a "something to hang me, even if it isn't such a neat job of mechanism."

The condemned man still displays his wonderful nerve although he spends considerable time in reading the bible and meditating over the future. He has spiritual counsel regularly and asserts that he is earnest in his desire to prepare for his unalterable fate. So far there has been no day of execution named by the Governor.

Death of "Rich" McClain.

On Sunday afternoon at half past two o'clock Richard, son of James McClain, died at the home of his parents on Curtin street. "Rich" was now in his 15th year and an unusually bright boy and his death at this early age will cast a dark shadow of gloom over that household.

Take Hood's Sarsaparilla 100 Doses One Dollar

The Chief Reason for the great success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is found in the article itself. It is merit that wins, and the fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla actually accomplishes what is claimed for it, is what has given to this medicine a popularity and sale greater than that of any other sarsaparilla or blood purifier before the public.

Merit Wins

Hood's Sarsaparilla cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum and all Humors, Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, overcomes That Tired Feeling, creates an Appetite, strengthens the Nerves, builds up the Whole System.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. $1; six for $5. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Apothecaries, Lowell, Mass.

AT THE STATE COLLEGE.

History and Purpose of the Experiment Station.

The Agricultural Experiment Station of the Pennsylvania State College was established by vote of the Trustees, June 30, 1887, in accordance with the provisions of the act of Congress, approved March 3, 1887, generally known as the Hatch act. The experimental work in agriculture which has been carried on at the College since its foundation is being continued and greatly enlarged under this form of organization. By the act of Congress above mentioned there was appropriated to each of the colleges commonly known as the land grant colleges the sum of $15,000 per annum for the purpose of establishing at those colleges agricultural experiment stations.

The provisions of the Hatch act have been accepted by the State for the benefit of the Pennsylvania State College, and in addition the Legislature, by act approved June 3, 1887, has appropriated to the College $12.000 which has been used for the erection of a commodious building for the office and laboratories of the Station. The funds specifically devoted to the work of the Station are expended in making such experiments and investigations as seem best adapted to render practical and efficient aid to the farmers of the State in the pursuit of their calling. Various experiments of this sort have been completed and numerous others are now in progress. The results of these experiments are published quarterly in the form of bulletins and the year's work is summed up in an annual report. Both the reports and bulletins are printed for gratuitous distribution, and will be mailed regularly, free of charge to any citizen of the State who requests it.

The Station also invites correspondence and suggestions from farmers and others interested in its work, and inquiries upon matters pertaining to agriculture or horticulture will be cheerfully answered so far as possible.

EXPERIMENT STATION REPORT,

The publication of the annual report of the Penna. State College Agricultural Experiment Station for 1888 has been unavoidably delayed, and the volume has just appeared.

A prominent feature of the report is the record of experiments upon the soiling system for milch cows, designed to furnish data upon which to base a rational estimate of the relative advantages of pasturage and soiling. Comparative trials were made both in the barn and the laboratory, and the results are recorded in full.

The field experiments with fertilizers which have been in progress since 1881, are reported upon. We note, among other points, that these experiments seem to favor the use of the cheaper and less soluble phosphates upon soils similar to that of the Stalion farm. These experiments are to be continued through a term of years, on the same plots, upon a uniform plan. A considerable number of varieties of farm crops have been tested, especial attention having been given to corn.

The Horticulturist's report introduces a new feature in the experimental work, and gives an extended account of comparative trials with different varieties of garden vegetables. An experiment in practical forestry has also been begun.

The report contains a description and cuts of the new Station building, and an address by Prof. I. P. Roberts on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the building. A general report on the year's operations precedes the accounts of experiments, and a financial statement shows the disposition made of the funds received from the United States. An appendix contains a detailed report of the daily meteorological observations.

The report will be sent, free of charge, to any citizen of Pennsylvania, so long as the supply lasts, on application to the Director, at State College, Centre Co.

What Council Did.

It was ten minutes past time when enough members of council were present to constitute a quorum, sufficient to transact any business, but at 7.10 it was called to order by President Stover. The first order of business after the adopting of the minutes of previous meeting was the appearance of the borough solicitor, Clement Dale, Esq., at the request of Mr. Chas. McCafferty to present a request to council for that gentleman, to release a $64 dollar judgment now held by the borough against property of Alexander McCafferty. The matter was referred to the Finance committee for investigation and report.

A written petition was presented signed by ten or a dozen citizens praying for light on the extremity of East High street, along the cemetery. This matter was referred to street committee with instruction to furnish the necessary light at the proper places.

Reports of committees was then in order and the street committee reported considerable work done in various places throughout the borough. The Water committee reported ditch being dug for the extension of water out Logan street. Nuisance committee reported Garman nuisance as abated. Fire and police reported the police had received and were sporting their full city regalia and it was considered a decided improvemt.

The Makers of a Well Known Churn write:

"We have been often asked by dairymen: 'What is the very best soap to use to properly cleanse dairy utensils?' We have invariably replied, the 'Ivory,' but as for giving specific directions for washing dairy utensils, it is really summed up in making them thoroughly clean. Boiling water must be used, and that, in connection with IVORY SOAP, will thoroughly cleanse and deodorize the wood, leaving it clean and sweet for further use. Any dairy utensils half cleaned will spoil the delicate aroma of 'gilt edge butter,' which may be perfect in other respects."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be 'just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Just as council was on the point of adjournment Dr. Hafer appeared breathlessly almost—to inquire regarding the laying of a crossing in the neighborhood of his property and on receiving the assurance of council that it would be given their best attention he withdrew as he had come—by the door. A few bills were then passed when council adjourned to meet no more this year.

A Druggist Says.

Marvin C. Brown, Druggist, Meredith Village, N. H., says: I have sold your Sulphur Bitters for years, and, contrary to most medicines, never sold a bottle to any one who said it did not help them. They cured me of those terrible sick headaches when every other remedy failed.

Two Useful Calendars.

Wonderful Advance has been made in Calendar making of late years, and the enterprising proprietors of Hood's Sarsaparilla seem to have completely mastered the business. For their Calendar for 1890 is so beautiful in conception and general effect as to be almost beyond improvement. Fourteen colors were used by the lithographer in producing the beautiful head, the flesh tints being simply exquisite. To be appreciated this Calendar must be seen. Ask for Hood's Calendar and Hood's Holiday Herald at your druggist's, or send 6 cents in stamps to C. I. Hood & Co. Lowell, Mass.

Another most convenient, valuable, and unique business table or desk calendar for 1890 is the Columbia Bicycle calendar and stand, issued by the Pope Mfg. Co. It consists of a pad containing 366 leaves, each 2¾ x 5½ inches, one for each day of the year, to be torn off daily. On each leaf is a blank space for the entering of any memoranda that the possessor of one may choose to make. They are issued by the above named company from their main office in Boston, Mass

Our Little Ones and the Nursery enters upon a new volume with the November number. The Nursery is the veteran of Magazines for youngest readers, and those who read its earlier issues in childhood are now active members of society, speaking in the warmest terms of their former favorite, taking it for their own children. Our Little Ones is ten years old, and its million readers are still its strongest friends. The united Magazines have won a success never before achieved by any similar publication, and to-day Our Little Ones and the Nursery stands alone, not only in this country, but in the world, as a marvel of fitness for little readers. Its illustrations are always new and fresh, drawn by the best artists, and engraved for each number, under the supervision of Mr. George T. Andrew, the sponsor for so many artistic works on the counters of the booksellers. It is very carefully edited by a well-known author. It is largely used in schools, and kindergartens, and is an educator of the highest character in both family and school, not only of the mind, but also of the taste of its little readers. Published monthly by the RUSSEL PUBLISHING CO., Boston, at $1.50 a year. A trial subscription of three months for 25 cents.

A delicious holiday flavor pervades every page of the Christmas number of The Ladies Home Journal. Never has a better number of this wonderful domestic magazine been issued. Will Carleton opens the feast with a beautiful illustrated full page poem; Mrs. A D T Whitney and Maud Howe supply the novels, while Katharine B Foot begins a strong Christmas story. Mrs. A G Lewis has a Santa Claus poem for the youngsters, which Margaret E Sangster follows with illustrated verse. Then follows a perfect wealth of suggestions for Christmas dinners, women's fashions holly decorations for the home, etc.

Pennsylvania's Military Strength.

Adjutant General Hastings has just forwarded to the War Department at Washington a statement of the military force of Pennsylvania, which would be available in case of war. In the National Guard there were 606 commissioned officers and 7,865 enlisted men, a total of 8,471 against a total last year of 8,351, several new companies having been organized. There are 138 companies, including 132 companies of infantry, three of cavalry and three of artillery. The total number of men in the State available for military duty is 659,906.

GRICULTURAL.

That the farmers can, by judicious breeding, not only increase the capacity of his cows, but also the quality of the milk, is a fact that admits of no denial. The two obstacles now in the way of successful dairying are a portion of the cows and the failure of the dairyman to raise better stock than he can buy. The destruction of the calves which is really wrong, at the age of two or three days, is gradually undermining the dairy industry by compelling the farmer to purchase his dairy cows, which is simply a matter of chance, so far as the productive capacity of the cows is concerned, and subjecting him to greater expense of labor, shelter and cost of production, serious drawbacks that are sure to bring evil results finally.

COST OF RAISING CHOICE COWS.

Where pasturage is good the calf will not entail much expense after it is six months old. The cost of the calf to that age will, of course, depend largely on the amount of milk allowed it, an estimate of the cost of which will not exceed $10 when milk is supplied at two cents per quart. The calf will come in at about two years of age, and be then a producer. The total cost of the calf to the age of two years will vary, but if this cost be compared with the cost of fresh cows (deducting the loss from the sales of such cows when they are dry), it is doubtful if the cost of the calf will exceed the cost and value of the fresh cow. But farmers will not admit that it is cheaper to raise their cows, as they look more to the immediate profits than to the future. If the calf is to be retained, however, it should be a grade something better than its dam. Unless the dairyman intends to grade up his stock he will conduct calf raising on the chance system as much as when buying cows. The object should be to improve the stock for the purpose of increasing the capacity of the herd. In a large majority of cases abortion in the herd (which is contagious) is due to the purchase of fresh cows, which, unknown to the dairyman, come from herds in which the difficulty exists, and introduce it among others. When the dairyman decides to improve the capacity of his herd he will need no urging to destroy the scrub bull, which is as great a curse to dairy as can exist.

THE FUTURE RESULTS.

It is a good average if a cow produces 2,000 quarts of milk in a year, and at the wholesale price of 2 cents (about what the farmer gets) the gross product is only $40, and out of this must come all the expenses, capital invested and interests, the manure only being extra. If the capacity of each cow can be doubled, which is possible by raising the calves, there will be but little additional expense for shelter and labor, and the proportionate profit will be greatly increased. To raise calves, however, without breeding for the kind desired, and without proper selection, would not be systematic, for it is a fact often demonstrated that a herd of well-bred dairy cows will give a profit where loss only is entailed from buying fresh cows to replace those that dry off.

Death in a Log Camp.

David Fravel, employed at P. B. Crider's lumber job in Nittany Valley, met with a fatal accident yesterday while engaged at his labor. The men who were employed in skidding logs, left the job at the dinner hour and all went to the camp but young Fravel. Fravel, who remained behind to finish what he was doing, telling the other men to go to their dinners and he would soon follow. As he did not make his appearance, the men went back to look for him and found his lifeless body lying on the ground. The body was still warm but there was a bruise on his forehead, caused by striking a stone when he fell. The skull was crushed and life had fled. The man had evidently fallen and met with an accidental death. Justice of the Peace, John A. Harter, empaneled a jury and held an inquest on the body last night and a verdict in accordance with the facts as above stated was rendered. Fravel was a young married man, aged 27, and leaves a wife and one child The eighteen men employed by Mr. Crider made up a purse of money sufficient to pay all expenses connected with his funeral. The deceased lived at what is called the junction in Nittany Valley

MISS AMELIA B. EDWARDS will publish a very striking article in the January Century, in which is given the first popular decription of the recent extraordinary discoveries in Bubastis, Egypt. It is stated that all the monuments produced in this number are now published for the first time. One of the stones of these ruins is almost sixty-one centuries old. Bubastis, as old as the world itself, was considered as passing away when Olympia rose.

HENRY JAMES will have an illustrated article in January Century, on the famous French caricaturist, Daumier.

"THE Gradualness of Revelation" is the second paper by Professor Fisher (in the January Century) in his series on "The Nature and Method of Revelation."

"TWAS THE AIR BRAKE DID IT."

An Engineer's Heroism and Modesty in Disclaiming Credit.

We went winding up the mountains, our massive engine drawing us up the curving grades without an apparent effort. We had crossed an iron bridge and made a curve, at the end of which another was in sight, winding to the left, and a short distance from the track a cottage home stood in the shadow of the hills. Looking past it to a point just beyond, which was visible from my side of the engine, I saw, and I excitedly exclaimed: "A child on the track!"

At the exclamation John sprang from his seat. One glance down the track and his face became pallid. A child—3 years old, perhaps—stood midway between the rails and not one hundred yards from the engine. I looked from John to the child. It stood facing us, clapping its little hands as it was wont to do from its mother's arms, perhaps at the passing of the cars. In an other instant I was thrown forward—almost pitching through the glass window in front. At the same moment I heard a scream, a woman's voice, and with arms aloft and face paralyzed with terror the mother stood upon the steps of her cottage. We were nearer the child—it was not twenty yards from the engine, which, under the pressure of the air brake, was bumping and jolting furiously.

I looked for John, his seat was vacant; again ahead; the pilot was within twenty feet of the child, the train still in motion, too rapidly to be checked before reaching it! I shut my eyes, my heart stood still. Again the mother's heartrending scream, and I opened my eyes to see the child tossed several feet in the air. My head swam as I averted my eyes and I fancied I heard the crushing of the little form by the now slowly revolving wheels, when in husky tones I heard a man's voice utter: "Thank God!"

I opened my eyes, and standing upon the pilot was John Akers, holding in his arms the child, its face wreathed in smiles. The engine was now at a stand still. From the cottage the father came with a blanched face and trembling steps. The child in merry accent called out "Want to ride, papa?" He took his baby from John Akers' extended hands, and folding her in his arms, sank down on the earth beside the track.

John Clambered back to his perch, and sounded the whistle. The passengers looked out of the window, wondering what had occurred. A trembling hand drew the lever, which started the engine, puffing and hissing until it was going at full speed again. I looked toward John—his blue eyes were on the track ahead, but they were dimmed. Tears were on his cheeks, as he perhaps thought of what would have been his feelings if his own little girl had been on the track. Not a word did either of us speak until at Christianburg, on the top of the Alleghenies, 2,000 feet above the level, the train stopped. As I started to leave the engine, I turned and grasped John's hand.

"You did a brave thing John—a noble act."

"'Twas the air brake" he modestly and blushingly replied; "'twas the air brake that did it."—Philadelphia Item.

Milesburg Murmurings.

The Presbyterian congregation, at this place, are removing the brick from the site of the burned church to the prospective location of the new one preparatory to building next spring.

A new crossing is being put down across Mill street at Miles store. It is graded about eigteen inches higher than the old one was, as it was all the time swimming in mud.

The school house at MCoy and Linn's works has lately been painted, which adds very greatly to the appearance of the building.

The schools at this place are in a prosperous condition under the instruction of Mr. Wilbur Smith, principal.

Miss Bertha Swyers, has returned from Pittsburg, her cousin Miss Edith Swyers, accompanying her home.

There is a certain young man in town who was in the habit of taking his little dog along with him when he went to see his best girl, and now when the dog wants to find his master he hunts around the house and failing to find him then proceeds to the young ladies house and seats himself on the front porch, occasionally barking until the young man leaves.

A Singular Will.

A singular will was admitted to probate at Hagerstown, Md., yesterday. It was that of Capt. Henry Smith, of that city. He wants his body taken to the cemetery in a plain wagon, rolled in a cloth saturated with slack lime, and then placed in a casket. A man who is to be paid $5 shall then pour water into the coffin until the body is cremated. He then goes on to say that if he dies during the day he shall be buried one hour before sunrise. His name is to be carved on the family monument in Rosehill Cemetery, but the ashes must be sent to Kansas City. Mr. Smith leaves an estate valued at $50.000.

RADAM'S
MICROBE KILLER
CURES ALL DISEASES.
The claim to cure all diseases, may at first glance seem very absurd; but after reading our pamphlet giving a history of the Microbe Killer, explaining the germ theory of disease, and reading our testimonials, which prove conclusively there is no disease it will not cure, the truth of our assertion becomes clear. No person suffering from any blood, chronic or contagious disease should let a day pass without getting and reading this interesting book, which will be given away or mailed free. New and Wonderful Preparations.

PSYCHE'S SECRET,
OR EXTRACT OF ORIENTAL ROSES FOR
Beautifying the Complection Making the Skin Soft, Fair and Rosy as a Healty Infant's.

A MIRACULOUS preparation, that imitates nature to such perfection as to positively defy detection, even with a microscope. Renders the skin semi-transparent, and harmonizes with the blood color of the face, making the most beautiful complexion. Imparts a healthful roseate tint to the skin, and brilliancy to the eyes; it is entirely different from any other preparation of the kind, as when applied it remains fixed for at least twenty-four hours, and will not wash or rub off, and yet remember it is not a paint.

Psyche's Cream of Oriental Roses, An unrivaled preparation for the skin, guaranteed to contain nothing injurious, Cannot be detected. A substitute for face powder, etc., removes Tan, Freckles, and cures all skin diseases making the skin as soft, smooth, and fair as that of a healty infant.

PRICE OF EXTRACT, - - - 50c
PRICE OF CREAM, - - - $1.00.

EDISON'S
ELECTRO-CHEMICAL-FLUID.

For the Permanent Removal of Superfluous Hair.

From the Forehead, Lips, Chin, Arms, or any portion of the Face or Body, without Pain.

AFTER centuries of fruitless study and research by the world's greatest chemists, we have at last discovered a liquid preparation which we guarantee to permanently remove superfluous hair from any part of the face or body in two minutes, without pain or injury to the skin.

There are many disfigurations for the removal of superfluous hair, but all of them are either ineffectual or of little merit. The Electro-Chemical Fluid on the contrary, effects its purpose thoroughly and permanently. It supersedes the razor, renders the scissors unnecessary, and is WARRANTED to remove superfluous hair completely, totally and radically extirpating the disfigurement, leaving the skin smooth, soft and natural.

Price per bottle, - - - - $3.00.
Large bottles, containing four times the quantity, - 5.00.

In order to introduce this preparation, we will for next 90 days, send sample bottle free, to any address. Send two cent stamp for postage.

For sale by Druggists and Fancy Goods Dealers generally, or sent to any address on receipt of price. An energetic agent wanted in every town to introduce these preparations. Liberal terms. NICHOLS & CO., General Agents, 46 West 14th St., New York.

THE FARM AND HOUSEHOLD CYCLOPEDIA.
544 Pages! 249 Illustrations!

This book is a complete ready reference library for farmers and housekeepers, being filled with useful facts, hints and suggestions upon all subjects pertaining to rural and domestic affairs, embracing the results of experiment and research by scientific and practical men and women in all civilized countries. It contains the cream or substance of more than a dozen ordinary agricultural and household books, and is the only first-class work of the kind ever sold at less than six dollars. It is a book to be consulted every day in any emergency, and to be read at all times with interest and profit. It is such a book as every farmer and housekeeper needs and ought to have, supplying the universal want of a reliable counsellor upon every topic relating to the farm and household. The work is profusely illustrated, and is divided into two general headings, viz., THE FARM and THE HOUSEHOLD, each of which occupies half the book. These are again subdivided into a number of departments, as follows:

Rural Architecture, Fences and Gates, Field Crops, Fertilizers, The Garden, Orchard and Vineyard, Small Fruits, Live Stock, The Poultry Yard, The Dairy, The Apiary, Farm Implements, Around the Farm, Cooking Recipes, Ladies' Fancy Work, Floriculture, The Home Physician, The Toilet, The Laundry, Hints and Helps.

All of the above subjects are fully and ably treated in this valuable book. It is a vast storehouse of useful facts, hints and suggestions of the utmost value to farmers and housekeepers, and no man who has a home and an acre or more of land can afford to be without it.

That Settled the Dispute.

He was the color of an old army saddle, and a great advocate of the Baptist religion—constantly preaching that doctrine, and never letting an opportunity escape where he could get in a few licks on other creeds, and especially the Methodist belief.

The other night he struck a member of the Methodist persuasion, whom he found as valiant to the cause as himself, and consequently the war of words and arguments was red hot.

After an hour's dispute the Baptist member turned to his foe, and, with a look of triumph, said:

"Brudder Branan, you'se er white man, an' had got mo' sense dan me, er enny udder nigger, but dar's one t'ing in dat Bible dat had 'scaped yo' 'tention but lemme tells yo', sah, dis nigger fine hit."

'What is it?' asked Mr. Branan.

'In dat good book,' began the darky, with the air of the one whose weapon is invincible, 'I reads er heap about John de Baptis', don't I?'

'Yes,' was the reply.

'Kin you, den,' almost shouted the darky, while a joyful light overspread his features, 'tell me whar I kin fine ennyt'ing erbout John de Mef'dis?'

That settled the argument.

Be Wary of Choosing, Girls.

It was an excellent advice I saw lately given to young ladies urging them to marry only gentlemen or not marry at all. A true gentleman is generous and unselfish. He regards another's happiness and welfare as well as his own. You will see the trait running through all his actions. A man who is a bear at home among his sisters and discourteous to his mother is just the man to avoid when you come to the great question which is to be answered yes, or no. You need not die old maids. But wait until the prince passes by. No harm in delay.

You will not be apt to find him in the ballroom. Nor is he a champion billiard player. He has not had time to become a "champion" for he has had too much honest, earnest work to do in the world. I have always observed that these "champions" were seldom good for much else.

Be wary in choosing, girls, when so much is at stake. Do not mistake a passing fancy for undying love. Marrying in haste rarely ends well. Do not resent too much the interference of your parents. You will travel long and far in this world before you will find any one who has your true interest at heart more than your father and mother.

Not Bargan Day at That Counter.

"I know I am not a match for you in wealth or in social position," he said. "I know how unworthy I am of you, yet may I hope that perhaps some time—some day——"

"Yes," she assented, lifting her regal head, "some day, as you justly remark, I may be glad to consider your proposition, but not, I think, in the near future. No, Mr. Secondshelf, it is not bargain day on this counter yet."

A DOUBTFUL COMPLIMENT.

The following seems to be the latest "thing one would rather have left unsaid": "A pianist recently spent the evening at the house of a lady. The company was agreeable, and he stayed somewhat late. As he rose to take his departure the lady said: "Pray don't go yet, Mr. Jones, I want you to play something for me." "Oh, you must excuse me to-night it is very late and I should disturb the neighbors." "Never mind the neighbors," answered the young lady quickly; "they poisoned my dog yesterday."

Bobby Sees the Opening.

Bobby—Mamma, will you give me five cents if I am good all to-day?

Mother—But don't you think it would be nicer if you would be good of your own accord?

Bobby—I guess not, because the teacher said it was better to be good for even a little than to be good for nothing.

Bellefonte's Water!

IS THERE ANY DANGER, PRESENT OR FUTURE, OF THE BIG SPRING

BECOMING IMPURE OR UNCLEAN

From Excessive Drainage or Numerous Cess Pools? A Question of Vital Importance.

Bellefonte is a beautiful town; it is a healthy place; and one of the best reasons for the healthy condition of Bellefonte is the pure water with which it is supplied. No town in the United States has access to a more life-giving, pure and sparkling supply of water in such munificent abundance as just our own little town. It is true that we are "builded on seven hills," and that the traversing of our streets is tiresome to those accustomed to level streets and smooth pavements but in consideration of these little disadvantages Bellefonte can offer to all who are pleased to stop within its borders that which they might travel states over and could not find—a drink of the purest and best water that flows from the bowels of the earth, out of a spring that is a wonder in itself and the boast of the town. Limpid clear and sparkling, it lays as a miniature lake, fed from an unknown source its capacity is not known because it has never been tested. The highest floods affect it not neither do the greatest droughts lower it below its level.

IS THERE DANGER OF IMPURITY?

This is a question that every citizen of Bellefonte should consider well and carefully because it is a question of vital interest to every single resident of this borough. If the water in the Big Spring should in any way be rendered impure or unclean, by excessive draining or the multiplicity of cess pools in that immediate neighborhood, the loss to Bellefonte could not be computed in dollars and cents. It is beyond estimation, Is there danger of anything of that kind? is a question that should be investigated. Proper measures should be resorted to and stringent remedies applied—if found necessary. But now is the time to consider this question. Don't put it off until, perhaps, the water may become impure and then hunt for the cause, but now is the time to consider whether or not such a thing is possible. Numerous buildings have lately been erected, some still in the course of erection in that locality, and they all must have their drainage, they are only on a level with the spring and could there be any danger from this source?

OPINIONS EXPRESSED.

The DAILY NEWS has solicited opinions from numerous of Bellefonte's leading citizens and they are variously expressed. Some think there is no danger, others are just as positive that there is great danger and that now is the time to act. While yet others are undecided. Some say it is hard to tell inasmuch as it is not definitely known from what source the spring draws its supply. No one knows if it is fed from a stream flowing along under the surface or whether it is a rise of water from unknown depths. If the former there may be danger, if the latter the only danger apparent is from surface drainage.

The DAILY NEWS stands not alone in the desire to have this thing fully investigated and explained, but has been urged strongly by different persons to bring the matter out for public consideration. We have now done so, and would like to have all those interested express themselves on this subject.

A Fire in Huntingdon.

Special to the TRIBUNE.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., December, 11.—The handsome suburban residence of Mr. G. Taylor Simonton, situated on Warm Springs avenue, was badly scorched by fire at midnight last night. Mr. Simonton first discovered the existence of the fire by noticing smoke issuing from the bathroom up stairs. The members of the family were asleep and could only be awakened with the greatest difficulty, especially Miss Rosa Ruppert a domestic, who did not recover consciousness until after being carried from the house.

The fire originated in some unknown manner in the cellar, and was finally extinguished by the prompt aid of neighbors, who formed a bucket brigade and carried water from a distant spring. Mr. Simonton's loss will reach $500; insured.

All in Fun.

It is said that smacking the lips is a vulgar habit: Much depends on whose lips are smacked.

The less a woman believes in a man the greater the respect he is apt to feel toward her.

"No," said the boodle Alderman, "I shall not lend my vote to such a thieving scheme" And he didn't lend it. He sold it.

They are going to have smokeless powder in the navy. That's all very well, but the crying need of the hour is a smokeless cigarette.

AN OLD SOLIER FOUN DED.

Was it Murder, Suicide or Natural Death—Samuel Kelly found Dead on Seven Mountains.

News has just reached here that Samuel Kelly, an old soldier, and a very prominent and highly respected citizen of Potters Mills, this county, was on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock found lying at the side of the road on top of the Seven Mountains dead. He was lying on his side when found and on a hasty examination there was no evidence of foul play discovered.

Mr. Kelly was first discovered by Mr. J M Bunnell, of the firm of Bunnell & Aikens, of this place. Mr. Bunnell drove on to Potters Mills and notified Justice of the Place, Wm. Thompson, who at once repaired to the place where the body lay for the purpose of holding legal examination and proceedings, the result of which has not been learned when we go to press.

When Mr. Kelly was last seen he was in good health and had started for a trip over the mountains, so that when the word of his being found dead was received it was a great shock to his friends and acquaintances. As to whether it was a murder, a suicide or death from natural cause can only be ascertained in time and with the usual proceedings. The event has created considerable excitement in that neighborhood, which will not cease to exist until the mystery is entirely cleared away.

IRON PROSPECTS IN CENTRE COUNTY

Employers Satisfied with the Outlook, Employes Satisfied with Wages and Everything is Lovely.

The Philadelphia Press, with its usual sprightliness in anticipating trade has been making a canvass of the State through its special correspondents of the present outlook for the iron and ore industry during the coming year. Through its special correspondent in this place, Mr. James R. Hughes, the following is given as the exact state of trade and outlook for the future as it now exists in Centre county:

BELLEFONTE, Dec. 10 [SPECIAL].—The Bellefonte furnace runs now, as it has since its establishment, on full time, with the same number of hands as were engaged last year and at precisely the same rate of wages. Thomas Shoemaker, general superintendent of the works says the market is very strong, business is in a thriving condition and the outlook for the coming year very bright. This company is not selling their product ahead of January.

The McCoy & Linn iron works, in the departments now running, are employing the same number of hands as they did last year and their wages are the same. The men are working on full time.

The Centre Iron Company has in its employ about the same number of men at the same rate of wages as last year. The puddlers generally have received an advance. The officers of the company are very much encouraged over the condition of the market at present and the prospects for the coming year. There is a good demand for their pig metal and muck bar.

The Bellefonte Nail Works are running regularly on full time, with the puddlers on double turn. The wages are slightly higher than last year and the same number of men are employed. J C Miller, treasurer of the company, says the prospects for a big year in the iron industry are exceedingly bright.

William Saylor, one of the oldest workmen in the iron business here, says the men are satisfied with their wages, the puddlers having received an advance and the others receiving good steady pay. The furnace men, he said, were satisfied with the hours of work, and considered their prospects this year much brighter than last year.

Isaac Miller, another old iron laborer, said that the general feeling among the workmen was of satisfaction with wages and hours for work. He said they were anticipating an advance in their pay on account of the brisk state of the market.

William Eckley, one of the leading iron workmen here, says the men are encouraged over the prospects for the year and working very contentedly at the present wages and hours.

—The forty hours' devotion in the new St. John's Catholic church was brought to a beautiful close on Tuesday evening by Rt. Rev. Monsignor Thomas F. Brennan, D. D. of Driftwood, who was dressed in the full insignia of his high dignity. His sermon on that occasion was scholarly, artistically eloquent—Shakespearian. It was suited for an audience of high culture. It was highly extolled by those who heard it. The fact is generally regretted that the able prelate has kept his light so long under a bushel. The people of St. John's extend him a hearty welcome to their parish on all occasions. Come again Monsignor.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Closed on Friday Afternoon, for the Holiday Vacation With Appropriate Literary Exercises.

On Friday afternoon there were gathered in the High School room in the new brick building on Bishop street, quite a goodly number of visitors in addition to the members of that school. The occasion was the closing of the High School for the holiday vacation and it was properly done with appropriate literary exercises. It was just five minutes past two o'clock when Prof. D. O. Etters called the school to order and announced that the afternoon exercises would be opened with music—a piano duet by Misses Schofield and Gross. Just here we will say that time and space will not permit comment on the exercises as we would like to or as they deserve but for all that it was an afternoon of rich entertainment and every one who participated can consider our opinion of their part as very good.

The second exercise was an oration—'The Thirteenth Amendment,' by Harry DeSilva. Slavery and its abolition was the subject under discussion. Miss Anna Stott orated on "The Conflicts of Life," and her piece was a worthy production but spoken a little too fast to make it fully forcible. George Potter told the audience in an oration, all about the "Monroe Doctrine," after which Miss Schofield pleased her listeners with a finely executed piano solo. The next three exercises were orations as follows. "True Greatness," Miss Lillie Smith; "Progress in Civilization," Miss Carrie Gross; "At the Tomb of Lincoln," Miss Sheridan. The latter was a well prepared piece and was spoken in a very impressive way.

It was now almost 3 o'clock and Mr. D. F. Fortney entered the room, which probably was the reason that Charles Rowan just then gave an oration on the "Ballot Box," which he viewed from every side and corner and finally turned it into an Australian voting machine. He is not in favor of female suffrage as he says they would quarrel at the polls same as men do and that would belittle the sex.

Miss Florence Longacre told all about the "World of Women," after which Misses Anna Stott and Sadie Bayard rendered a vocal solo—"Far Away." Next was an oration—"Give the Boy a Chance," by miss Bridgie Curry, which was followed by one from John Morgan on "The Manufacturing Interests of the United States." Miss Laura Hafer spoke on "Patriotism," and Miss Millie Smith told how to "Persevere." Miss Myra Holliday orated on "Will He Succeed," and the exercises were closed by an oration on "The Crime of the Century," by Boyd Musser. The subject treated as the crime referred to was the assassination of Dr. Cronin. Mr. Musser is a speaker of no mean degree and we expect ere long to hear of him as a great public speaker. Miss Schofield rendered a piano solo after which Prof. Etters announced that the next performance would be a speech from Mr. Fortney.

Mr. Fortney arose and said he had not exactly come to make a speech; that he had told the boys he was coming up to give them a good scolding but he had too much cold he could not talk loud enough to scold. He managed to tell the boys, however, that they must get down to work as the girls were getting away ahead of them both in oratory and good looks. The boys spend too much time on the streets. They must not play hookey, It will do them no good. He also said that those who were trying to get out of studying part of the course as laid down ought not to do it as it was for their own benefit. Here Mr. Fortney remarked that he had said all he had to say unless Prof. Etters had some particular subject he wanted him to talk on then he would talk on it.

In the meantime a few things had been brought in by the older boys of the school and to these Mr. Fortney now turned his attention. After a careful examination he presented Principal D. M. Lieb with a handsomely bound book, entitled, "Ranch Life and the Hunting Trail." To Prof. Etters he presented a handsome dictionary holder, and to Prof. Johnstonbaugh a fine leather dressing case, all the gifts of the students. As each gift was bestowed appropriate words of thanks were spoken by those receiving them. A sensation was caused when Prof. Etters was thanking the students by Wm. Grauer's little boy Arthur, calling out, "Mamma, I want one of dem." With another instrumental solo the exercises closed,

A Man Who has Known Alfred Andrews Talks

Ex-Representative Joseph W. Merrey, of Beech Creek, is in the city to-day, and he gave us some reminiscences of Alfred Andrews, the young man now in jail at Bellefonte charged with the murder of Miss Clara Price, near Karthaus, in Burnside township, Centre county. According to Mr. Merrey, who says that he knows all about Andrews, the so called murderer worked in R. D. Peck's livery, in this city, in 1886 and afterwards worked for a week or at least a few days at the Central Hotel for Geo. Roman. He then went to Beech Creek and worked for Mr. Merrey for several months, doing the chores around the house and premises. In July of that year Mr. M. says Andrews cut his finger in some manner and as snoo as he saw blood was so chicken-hearted that he fainted away. After leaving Mr. Merrey's employ he worked for John McLeod, of Castanea, for several months and then went to Keating and worked for George Reed, of the Keating House. From Keating he migrated to Karthaus and worked in the mines and there married. He afterwards worked for David Price, the murdered girl's father, who we believe is dead. From there he went to Brisbin, where he was arrested. Mr. Merrey describes him as a small sized man, perhaps about five feet six inches tall, sickly and pale-faced looking, and says he does not believe they have gotten the right man at all, as he can't conceive of such a man as Andrews having nerve enough to commit such a crime.—L. H. Democrat.

Gov. Curtin on Farming.

Ex-Governor A. G. Curtin, of Bellefonte, who is spending the week at the Stratford, got to talking about Pennsylvania farming lands yesterday, and said:

"Our farmers differ from those of New England in that they know enough to stimulate their lands before they become exhausted. Grangers of the Keystone State use lime and phosphates and manure liberally. Then, too, when a certain piece of land shows symptoms of exhaustion they sow a great deal of clover there, and clover possesses great power as a stimulant. Of course, we have the advantage over New England in that our farms, along the Susquehanna, for example, are much more fertile than most of those in New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts. But unlike the latter states Pennsylvania, so far as I know, has no abandoned farms. In fact I do not recollect of ever seeing a deserted farm in this state. New England's abandoned farms are not a result of the tariff but of ceaseless working and of carelessness."

Horrible Accident at Snow Shoe.

This morning while W. G. Kesling, a brakeman in the Snow Shoe yard, was engaged in the discharge of his regular work he was thrown from the train on to the track and one car passed over him. His left arm was broken and his left leg is broken in two places. It is thought that he is not otherwise injured. The accident occurred at daylight this morning. Dr. G. F. Harris, of this place, went out on the morning train to assist in setting the broken bones.

—Bellefonte has every reason to feel proud that it has within its borders such a proficient musical organization as the Aeolian orchestra. They render excellent music and in a style entirely beyond criticism. The orchestra is composed entirely of young men, and we mean no flattery when we say that each and every one is a musical artist. They should receive much encouragement from the people of Bellefonte.

—The Rev. Sam Jones rather took the breath away from Kentuckians while preaching in one of the fashionable churches on the "proper method of raising children." An old blue-grass fellow said: "We raises horses and bring up children" "Yes" retorted Sam, "you raise horses worth $50,000 apiece and bring up children worth about 3 cents a head."

—The Clearfield county Court has given the Hungarians of that county to understand that the christening business must be stopped. The christening among this class of people usually terminates in a first-class killing, and that is why, perhaps the judge is opposed to such hilarity, as it adds much to the costs of the county to find out correctly each time how a Hun was killed.

"LITTLE BO PEEP

had lost her sheep and couldn't tell where to find them." So the old nursery rhyme says, and it goes on to bid her "Leave them alone and they'll come home and bring their tails behind them." All this may be true of lost sheep, but if you have lost your health you cannot afford to leave that alone. It will not come back of its own accord. Some people brag that they never bother about colds. They "let them go the way they came." Alas! too often the victims go—to a consumptive's grave. Until very recently a cure for Consumption, which is universally acknowledged to be scrofula affecting the lungs, would have been looked upon as miraculous, but now people are beginning to realise that the disease is not incurable. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure it if taken in time and given a fair trial. This world-renowned remedy will not make new lungs, but it will restore diseased ones to a healthy state when other means have failed. Thousands gratefully testify to this. It is the most potent tonic, or strength restorer, alterative, or blood-cleanser, and nutritive, or flesh builder known to medical science. For Lingering Coughs, Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, "Liver Complaint" and Dyspepsia or Indigestion, it is an unequaled remedy.

How He Got Even.

A young lady broke off her engagement with a suiter when a wealthier lover appeared upon the scene. She wrote to her old lover requesting him to return her photograph. Here was a chance for revenge, which he took by sending her the following note: "I would gladly comply with your request, but if I do it will spoil my euchre deck. I have a collection of photographs which I use for playing cards and I do not want to break it by giving away the queen of diamonds."

is one that promotes digestion, improves the appetite, cleanses the liver, purifies the blood, and stimulates brain and nerves without injurious reaction, and one that may be taken alike by adult or infant. Profane compounds, made of vile rum or bad whiskey, sweetened and flavored, under the titles of bitters, tonics, &c, produce effects far worse than the disease for which they are taken.

Vinegar Bitters is a pure tonic, a nervine without being narcotic, a purifier without poison, a liver tonic without purging, and above all, a life-giving stimulant without alcohol. The only medicine with such powers in the world.

A GENUINE TEMPERANCE BEVERAGE,

far surpassing alcohol in any shape as a tonic it might be called

Bellefonte Republican,

CHAS. L. GATES, - - LESSEE
Editor and Business Manager.

Local Department.

—Every session of Institute is very largely attended.

—There are now 204 inmates in the Huntingdon Reformatory.

—It is about time now to commence to form your New Year resolutions.

—This is good weather for colds. Every body seems to be well supplied, too.

—That was a very disgraceful scene that was enacted on Smith street on Sunday morning.

—Yesterday was a good day to attend church, it was not too cold or too warm; too wet or too dry, but just about right.

—Three deaths in that city were recorded by the Lock Haven papers on Saturday, and yet they say it is a healthy place.

—A man playing an accordean in the Racket store and a little dog barking in unison attracted a crowd to that place on Saturday night.

—The jury wheel was filled last week for the year 1890. Altogether 650 names were put in the wheel, of which 322 are republicans and 328 democrats.

—Mr. John Kenyon, recently of Philipsburg and also well known in this place, has gone to Clearfield to assume control of the electric light plant at that place.

—B C Auchenbach has one of the most prettily displayed windows in Bellefonte. His handsome toys and tempting sweetmeat and confectionery show off to good advantage.

—If you have any job work to do send it to this office. We are now situated to do work with promptness and neatness and we will do your work as cheap as it can be done anywhere. Give us a trial.

—Mr. H. U. Tibbens, late reporter for the Altoona Mirror is doing the Institute for this paper and our readers can judge of Harry's qualifications as a reporter by the very excellent reports he is furnishing.

—On Monday afternoon Mr. Joseph W Ritenow and Miss May Morrison, both of Philipsburg, were married by Rev. D M Wolf, in this place. All parties are now in Bellefonte attending the teachers institute.

—Since the DAILY NEWS was issued on Saturday there seems to have been quite a number of fatalities, from a row on Smith street, a burned Hungarian, a colored man had a limb broken, to a murder in Lock Haven.

—Four more merchants who have recently advertised in this paper have been heard from and they say that the next day after their ad was inserted they noticed the effect of it in the increased sale of the goods advertised.

—All the particulars regarding the Lock Haven murder were given in the DAILY NEWS on Monday. All the parties in anyway implicated are in jail. It seems to have been the result of a long standing feud precipitated by a too free use of whiskey.

—When a man, who owes nine year's of a paper bill, will send it back marked "refused, don't want it any more," he stands at the head of the list of mean and unprincipled men, and it is no harm to any list to drop him as he was only a disgrace to it any way.

—A Prussian, named Bernard Nitz, was found dead below Ardenheim, Huntingdon county, along the Pennsylvania railroad. He had on his person about $240 and a certificate of deposit for a considerable sum in a Rock Island bank. A coroner's jury was unable to determine the cause of his death.

—Mr. George W. Rogers, the well-known inventor of this place, departed for Harrisburg to-day to superintend the manufacturing of hydrants, etc., under his own patent, he having received notice that the company was organized and ready to go ahead. It is a pity that this manufactory could not have been started in Bellefonte, as, from present appearances, the probabilities are that it will give employment to quite a number of men.

—A young gentlemen school teacher on Tuesday escorted a young lady teacher into a prominent restaurant in this town and asked her what she would have. "Oysters" replied the fair maiden. "Waiter, bring us two ten cent stews," ordered the gallant escort. On being informed that the price of a stew was 25 cents he arose and walked out followed by the blushing maiden. The last heard of them they were still hunting for a place where they could get a 10 cent stew.

—Who will be the next Superintendent of public schools in Centre county? Prof. D M Wolf has asserted that he will not again be a candidate. Several have already been mentioned in that connection but of all so mentioned there is none more deserving or worthy of the position than is Prof. D O Etters, principal of Bellefonte High school. Mr. Etters is a man well qualified for that position, is a native of Centre county, was educated in the county and is just the man for the place.

Hard at Work.

THE PEDAGOGUES OF CENTRE COUNTY ARE KEPT VERY BUSY LISTENING TO

SOME VERY GOOD INSTRUCTION.

The Court House Always Well Filled—The Proceedings in Detail.

Every incoming train no Monday was filled with school teachers, and at noon they could be seen in every hotel, on every corner, in every store and parading every street. Look where one would it was a pedagogue. In all there are 259 teachers in the county and the enrollment yesterday was about 220, others came in in the evening and others came in this morning, Enrolling Clerk, Morrison, was promptly on hand and up to his elboys in making out receipts and taking in the "fee.'

The first session convened at 2.40 in the afternoon. Miss Laura Wright presided at the piano and had charge of the music. Rev. Hayden opened the institute with an appropriate prayer. The court room was well filled with teachers and visitors.

Immediately after the opening preliminaries Prof. D M Lieb offered a memorial minute in tribute of the memory of the late Dr. E E Higbee, which was adopted. In view of the fact that on Monday afternoon was occurring the funeral rites over the remains of the late State Superintendent, it was considered only right and proper to hold memorial exercises in his memory. Appropriate speeches were made by quite a number present after which the institute adjourned until this morning at 9 o'clock.

A JOURNEY TO THE GOLDEN GATE

was the subject that Dr. Philips, of the West Chester Normal school lectured on on Monday evening. Time and space will not permit an extended notice of the learned Doctors glowing talk, but it was all in all a treat well worth hearing. His journey from his home to the Rocky mountains was not very eventful but when he climbed to the top of Pike's Peak—24,000 feet above the level of the sea, where coffee sells for 25 cents a cup because of the high latitude—passing alternately bright blooming flowers and glittering beds of snow; descending from there and continuing on through the Rocky pass, where the gorge is so narrow that one only track of a narrow guage railroad can be laid through it, and from where to the top of the rocky cliffs is 26,000 feet, the sunlight never reaching to that narrow depth and the light of day hardly illumines it. Passing from this out to the verdant fields and blooming orchards and gardens of the country of Mormons in Utah territory; stopping briefly there to learn that polygamy is almost a thing of the past and that the Mormon people are not half so bad as reported to be; then to climb the rugged peaks of the Sierra Nevada to even a greater height than when on the Rocky mountains, and finally to descend into the fertile valley of the Pacific slope, that land of golden promise and to which many have flown for health, wealth and happiness; to visit the famed and beautiful towns of that land of promise and finally to end at the Golden Gate, was a description of a trip that was as glowing as it was edifying, and those who failed to hear it missed a treat that is not given to humanity two times in succession. Mr. Philips is a brilliant talker and he at all times held the entire attention of the very crowded house that had assembled to hear him.

TUESDAY MORNING SESSION.

Institute opened on Tuesday morning with a full attendance. Opening prayer by Rev. Ed. Everett Hoshour of the Lutheran church. Roll call by Roll clerk Morrison. Reading of minutes by Reading clerk Rothrock. Music "Love at Home" by Institute.

Talk on geography by Prof. J. B. Ritchie, Principal of the Philipsburg schools. He said that the works of Alexander Fry, are similar to the methods of the teacher. The science of education deals with the principle, the art of education deals with the imparting of the same. It is interesting to children for it teaches them to make observation and comparison. The usual methods seem to be to teach localities and bare facts. A geography should contain more facts and statistics than any teacher or pupil could learn. It should be to the student what Webster's unabridged dictionary is, and no one ever attempted to repeat column after column of the words there. It should be a work of reference. The speaker gave some examples taken from the geographies now in common use in the schools. Geographical facts seem dead to the child when met with for the first time unless the breath of life is breathed into them by the wide-awake teacher. Map questions should be studied but not on the catalogue fashion now in vogue. Nations no longer live for themselves, but are now dependent more or less on one another.

Music "Freedoms Flag" by Institute.

Prof. Wolf asked such teachers as had taken up collections for the benefit of the Johnstown schools to pay the same to Prof. D. M. Lieb.

Prof. A. E. Maltby spoke at length on the "Educational Value of Study." During his remarks he said that some studies are more valuable to mental discipline than others. Other studies have more of the nature of the aesthetic. The studies pursued in the old curriculum were very practical. The "Three R's" were of a very practical nature. The relative value of spelling is questioned by some teachers. Prof. Maltby gave a humorous illustration to show difference of opinion in teaching. There is some objection in some places to the introduction of physiology and hygeine. Language work should be the basis of work in the primary schools. Geography can be best defended as a culture. Psychology has a practical value to the teacher and the principles which underlie it are of vast importance to the teachers. Geometry has an immense value in cultivating facts and logic. Algebra has little practical value to the student but it has a grand practical value in the common schools. Grammar disciplines the mind in classification and is devoid of the hampering facts found in other sudies. Botany is a grand disciplinary study in regard to classification of facts and is laying a foundation for further study.

Elementary geometry is of practical value and should be taught in the primary schools. The speaker illustrated by means of pieces of colored paper how the study can be made interesting and instructive to the pupils. This primary has a practical and disciplinary value. Geography and history are closely allied to each other. They are culture studies as is also literature.

Music, 'Chime Again, Beautiful Bells,' by Institute.

Recitation by Walter S. Bonbright, 'Jamie Butler' adventure with the Owl.'

Dr. G. L. Philips spoke on the subject of 'Longitude and Time' and went onto tell how the time which our watches show, is obtained. Time is obtained by observation of the stars. He spoke of the different times of different railroads and how four years ago a standard time was adopted by the principal railroads and how it was arranged. There are four kinds of time in use now by the railroads, namely, Eastern, Central, Mountain and Pacific, and the arrangement of the time was clearly explained by Dr. Philips A person traveling around the world would gain one day by going East or lose a day by going West. Navigators agree that the 180° of Longitude from Greenwich shall be the place where the time shall be changed to suit, either by dropping or picking up a day. The International date line is somewhat different from the line used by the navigatiors. Dr. Philips answered some questions on this subject.

Dr. Groff of Bucknell university gave a short talk on "Methods of teaching Physiology" in which he gave some very instructive and entertaining advice to the Institute on this subject.

Dr. Geoff says he does not believe in Physiology but he does believe in teaching Hygeine. Become familiar with your subject and the method will take care of itself. Do not expect to take up one small book, and having mastered it, think that is all that is required. Metnods differ widely. The best methods of teaching of the smaller pupils, under 13 years of age, is by means of familiar talks; too much attention is given to the text book usually. Text books should not be in the hands of the smaller pupils. It is very easy by a little labor, by real instruction to have good examinations on the subject. The teacher should be well prepared to teach. It is a good plan for the teacher to read and comment on the lesson for the day. The method has been tried in teaching history and other studies. The pupil in a more advanced class, can read a section of a lesson, and the teacher commenting to bring out the sense of the lesson. The common recitation method is much used and the teacher should go over the lessen before being studied by the pupil, to correct any erroneous ideas. The outline method is a good help to fix the ideas in the mind of the pupil. The topical method breaks up the plan of studying and reciting by note. Different textbooks should be used in the higher classes. Have written recitations occasionally; vary them with the oral work. Quizzing is another good method of having the pupils tell what they know. With the highest grade students teachers can give instruction by means of systematic lectures. Lecture and require each pupil to have a text book. This study should be in the hands of a young and energetic physician, who should give the lecture to the students. Every child should know the laws of health and how to live.

Music, "America," by Institute.

Dr. E O Lyte, Principal of Millersville Normal school, talked on "Memory" and paid a tribute to Centre county. Dr. Lyte said his subject was usually considered dry, but it was a very important one for all that.

The brain was compared to a rope, which being unwound consists of many strands. The strand for discussion today is "memory." The memory is made up of three parts, recollection, retention, recognition. The memory is effected by many outside influences. A healhy nervous system aids retention. Vividness of impression aids retention. Frequency of repetition aids retention. Attention is essential to retention. Prof. Lyte illustrated some of his methods on the blackboard. The imagination is often confused with memory. Clear perception is essential to recognition. Names are often hard to remember and the name should be associated with some peculiarity. The speaker said that some times a person may see a man with black hair who may be named Lyte, so that in this way names may be remembered.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Institute was opened at the regular time, the room being well filled and more people coming in all the time. Music 'There's Music in the Air' by Institute.

Dr. Groff spoke on "The Cell" in reference to anatomy. His remarks were very interesting, touching as they did, something not clearly understood by the average person, but in the clear lucid talk of Dr. Groff much that was not understood heretofore, was explained in a pleasing manner. Dr. Groff spoke for about thirty minutes and then departed to catch the 2.30 p. m. train over the Lewisburg railroad.

Music "Home Sweet Home," by Institute. Roll call by Roll clerk Morrison. Prof. J B Richey, of Philipsburg, continued his remarks on geography, taking his sub-division of "map drawing" as the subject for his talk. He showed some progressive outline maps drawn by some of his pupils in Philipsburg. He also illustrated the use of the stencil map. The map is made the means of strengthening the memory, He thinks that comparison is a great help in fixing facts in the memory. The transfer map is another means of getting the outline of a country in a very few minutes. The railroads can be learned in a short time by use of the maps gratuitously issued by many of the principal railroads Pictures are also useful in fixing facts in the mind of the pupils. Music "Joy Wait en Thy Morrow" by Institute.

Dr. Lyte then addressed the Institute on 'School Government.' Three elements enter into the system of all governments. The teacher, the pupil and the relation between the two. The ultimate idea of school government should be to make the pupil self governing. Good teachers are usually good disciplinarians. Right and duty go together, for where a right exists a corresponding duty also exists. Pupils owe certain duties to themselves and have no right to destroy their own prosperity. It is duty of pupil to obey the teacher; to be kind to each other; for the strong to defend the weak—to defend and observe the regulations, the school and many other duties which may come up. Nothing can be done without system and the regulations should be few. They should be exhaustive and should be popular; they should also be general, rather than special. Shall the regulations be printed? Prof, Lyte then read some of the regulations in force in a Missouri school which caused a great deal of merriment. He then put on the board the following hints, which he calls "A Hive of Bees." They are: Be regular, be prompt, be busy, be attentive, be quiet, be careful, be obedient, be good, be kind, be polite. These "Ten Commended" have worked a complete reformation in many schools.

Dr. Maltby spoke on the "Educational value of the Teacher" and pleased the Institute very much by his spicy and instructive remarks: He used an oblong figure divided into three parts, which he used to show the will, intellect and feelings of the good teacher, each one of the three faculties abnormally developed. We must cultivate a respect for self. A teacher should cultivate that point upon which they appear weak, to make the three faculties equal and thus become the successful teacher.

Instrumental solo by Miss Laura Wright "The Polish Dance."

Prof. Wolf announced the ushers for the evening They are S J Dale, R B Harrison, J F Miller, W W Bible, W E Keene, W S Hess, A C Ripka, J F Leather.

Dr. Philips told "How the World is Governed." Governments are divided into absolute and limited monarchies and republics. He used Russia to illustrate the absolute monarchy, England to illustrate a limited monarchy and United States to illustrate the republican form of government.

His remarks, as the subject shows, were on civil government and were very clear and instructive and much enjoyed by his hearers. Dr. Philips is a popular speaker and his remarks are always listened to very attentively.

Dr. Lyte again spoke to the Institute taking for his subject "Moral Training." A perfect education demands that we be educated physically, intellectually and morally, He developed some interesting facts in regard to the above subjects. No direct instruction seems to be given in morals in the public schools. Children should be taught to be truthful. Candor and courage should be encouraged. Both physical and moral courage are both necessary. The habit of obedience is the slow growth of weeks and months.

Swearing is a bad habit, also vulgarity, obscenity and many other vices which were touched upon by Dr. Lyte, who gave some good advice regarding them. Patriotism should be impressed on the mind of the pupils. The plan of having a flag floating from every school house is a grand one to teach the pupils patriotism. Morality should be inculcated in the mind of the pupil. It is the province of the teacher to develop a code of morals, with reference to the pupils.

Dr. Lyte and Dr. Philips left on the evening train, having other engagements to fill.

Institute adjourned at 4.30.

ENTERTAINMENT TUESDAY NIGHT.

The court house was about two-thirds filled on Tuesday night. Mr. Chas. F Underhill, the elocutionist, entertained during the evening. Mr. Underhill is a very good speaker and made some popular hits.

Mr. Underhill commenced by telling the "Story of an Engineer," and how, by the too free use of whiskey, he loses his position and also the life of his little girl. This piece was very pathetic and drew sympathy from all those present' His next effort was a "Dutchman Story' and this struck the popular chord as it was comic throughout. It was about a dutchman who had a cold and then described the numerous and peculiar methods he adopted of getting rid of it. This rendition, as the saying is, brought down the house.

Mrs. Bonbright then played a very pretty waltz on the piano, which was her own composition, She was encored and responded by playing that old, yet even precious "Home, Sweet Home," with the variations.

Mr. Underhill then recited a piece entitled "Lord Dundreary," which was "quite English, you know," which was followed by a few lives from the poet Burns' "Manhood" on the subject "Honest poverty is no disgrace." The last piece was a composition of the famous writer, W D Howells, and was entitled "The Mistakes on a Sleeping Car." It was about an aunt and niece who made the trip from California to Boston in one of the bedrooms on wheels, and being the first time they ever had traveled that way their actions and comments were somewhat amusing. This piece was well received. Mr. Underhill is a young man of rare gift as an elocutionist.

KILLED AT JOHNSTOWN.

A Bellefonte Young Man Struck by a Train and Killed.

Edward Bosner, whose home is in this place, but who recently had gone to Johnstown to work was, in company with a friend, on Sunday evening walking along the railroad track south of the city when the accommodation train came along and struck the two young men before they could escape.

Bosner was so badly injured that he died on Monday morning while his companion, although seriously, was not fatally injured.

This is one more addition to the long list of fatalities that are almost daily occurring at Johnstown, and it is a peculiarly sad one for Bellefonte people, as Mr. Bosner was well and favorably known here. He for a long time was employed at the nail works in this place, and his employers as well as fellow-workmen, all speak in high terms of praise of his conduct and his character.

Tuesday's Johnstown Tribune says: J. Edgar Bosner, one of the young men struck by the Johnstown Accommodation on Saturday evening at the western end of the stone bridge, died this morning at the Cambria hospital at 7 o'clock. His father arrived from Bellefonte last evening and was with his son at the final moment. Young Bosner was conscious before and recognized his father, The remains will be taken to Bellefonte to-day for interment.

In Other Counties.

D P Hawker, a well known citizen of Petersburg, Huntingdan county, died last Saturday evening, aged 47 years.

Joseph Henehan, a fireman on a Cambria Iron Company engine at Johnstown was badly scalded by escaping steam on Monday last and may die.

The difficulty on the Perry county railroad has been adjusted and hereafter trains will be run so as to make close connection with trains on the Pennsylvania railroad.

John Glusky, of Johnstown, was struck by second section of fast line on Monday night at the stone bridge and was instantly killed. He was a Hungarian and leaves a wife and five children.

At the recent fair and festival of the Grand Army of the Republic of Lewistown, the Cleveland Bible, which was contested for by the secret societies, was secured by Washington camp, No. 467, Patriotic Order Sons of America.

David Sutton, aged about 70 years, who resided near Chest Springs, Cambria county, was found dead on Friday evening, about a quarter of a mile from his residence. He had been making some repairs on the roadway, and, it is supposed, was seized with paralysis and probably died instantly.

MURDER IN LOCK HAVEN.

Two Brothers Set Upon By Two Men and One Beaten to Death.

Special to the DAILY NEWS.

LOCK HAVEN, Pa., Dec 16—A horrible tragedy was enacted in this place on Saturday night last but which was first discovered on Sunday morning. The particulars of the affair are about as follows: On Saturday night four young men—two Lovett brothers and two Brown brothers—were in Scheid's saloon, this city. At a late hour they all started for their home, the two Brown brothers in advance. The latter live in Woodward township and the Lovett brothers live in the "Irish Settlement," in Dunstable township, all on the opposite side of the river from the City, The Brown brothers had driven as far as the river in a wagon. On their return, after crossing the bridge to where they had left their wagon they concluded to await the arrival of the Lovett brothers, who had tarried somewhere, and all go home together in the wagon.

On the arrival of the Lovett Brothers an altercation ensued about some trivial affair, and, all being somewhat intoxicated, it was no time until a general fight was in progress. In the melee that followed one of the Lovett brothers was badly hammered and the other, William, was pounded to death and left lying by the roadside where he was found on Sunday morning. He was then removed to undertaker Sloan's establishment and the Brown brothers were arrested. Two brothers by the name of Moore were also arrested and held as witnesses—all parties being confined in the jail in this place.

A coroner's inquest and examination is now in progress taking testimony and inquiring into the cause of this terrible affair.

The Lock Haven Murder.

Following is the result of the coroner's inquest held at Lock Haven over the dead body of William Lovett:

Noble, P W Keller, A L Merrill, X B Ringler, L McIsaac and Louis Winner, Jr., six good and lawful men of said county and State aforesaid, who, being duly sworn and charged on the part of the Commonwealth to inquire when, where, how and after what manner the said William Lovett came to his death, do say upon their oaths that the said William Lovett came to his death on the 15th day of December, A. D. 1889, from certain wounds and injuries on the head so inflicted on the said 15th day of December, A. D. 1889, in the township of Woodward, in the county of Clinton aforesaid, between the hours of 12 and one o'clock at night, with a certain club or light blunt instrument, which one Charles Brown, of the said township of Woodward, then used there feloniously and of his malice aforethought had and held in and upon the aforesaid William Lovett, in the space of the said Commonwealth thou and there being, an assault did make, and him, the said William Lovett, feloniously, wilfully and of his malice aforethought then and there did violently strike, beat and wound, with intent him, the said William Lovett, then and there to kill and murder, and he, the said Charles Brown, then and there so as aforesaid, feloniously, wilfully and of his malice aforethought, did kill and murder him, the said William Lovett.

Houserville Again.

The marble works of Houserville
Are still improving every day,
They're struggling onward with a will—
Bound to make the business pay,
And if, perchance, you should fall in need
Of anything in the tombstone line—
Just please remember what you read—
For Mayes & Co are very fine.
